Worst Storm Of Season Hits Los Angeles

Streets Flooded,
Traffic Stalled
By Heavy Rains

Wintry weather finally arrived in Southern California, previously drought-stricken and smugly basking in sunshine and near 70-degree temperatures. Southern Californians were promised more scattered showers in the wake of Tuesday's gusty storm that flooded streets, stalled traffic and spilled mud slides into homes.

The storm was the worst of the season, dumping up to 3.23 inches of rain in the Los Angeles area. It was the first rain in nearly two months.

Streets Flooded
In the San Diego area, the storm caused flooding of streets, threatening seaside homes. Several residents were forced to evacuate their homes, but no injuries were reported.

Blizzards and snow slides were reported in the Pacific Northwest. At Hoodoo Bowl, 90 miles east of Salem, Ore., 42 persons, snowbound in a ski lodge since Saturday, were returned home Tuesday. But the forecast called for continued snow and showers.

The storm brought down telephone lines, cutting off long-distance service to a half a dozen towns in eastern Oregon. Service was expected to be restored today.

More rain and snow was predicted for Northern California.

Memorial Medals For Kennedy Are In Circulation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The President Kennedy Memorial Medal was issued from suburban Englewood today in cities throughout the United States.

The medals are produced by Presidential Art Medals, Inc. Max Humbert, president of the firm, said 15,000 serially numbered silver medals bearing a likeness of the late president have been produced.

Some 6,500 of these already are committed to regular customers, Humbert said. They sell for $15. Humbert said a limited issue of bronze medals, selling for $5, also went on sale.

The medals were designed, with Kennedy's approval, as fund-raising medals which were to have been used in his 1964 presidential campaign.

The only changes in the original design, Humbert said, is the addition of the symbolic eternal flame and the birth and death dates of the late president.

Relay 2 Satellite Launched Into Orbit By 3-Stage Rocket

Echo 2 Balloon May be Sent Into Space Friday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new U.S. communications satellite, Relay 2, circled the earth today and may be joined Friday by another, the giant Echo 2 balloon, as scientists seek the best space system for worldwide radio, television and telephone coverage.

Relay 2 shot into orbit from Cape Kennedy Tuesday atop a three-stage Delta rocket. On the satellite's first orbit, radio communications and a television test pattern were beamed to it from Mojave, Calif. The satellite immediately transmitted the signals back to Mojave and to a station at Nutley, N.J.

Worldwide Television
First intercontinental public television demonstration via Relay 2 had been scheduled today by the United States Information Agency. But it was called off because of what officials termed "logistic difficulties" in arranging a planned exchange of greetings between U.S. and Japanese government officials.

President Johnson reportedly was to have appeared on the U.S. segment.

A USIA spokesman said the program may be rescheduled at a later date. Meanwhile, continuing technical tests with the satellite were described as excellent.

First intercontinental television broadcasts via Relay 2 were scheduled today—an exchange of greetings between U.S. and Japanese government officials.

President Johnson may speak on the U.S. segment. Echo 2, successor to the spectacular Echo 1 balloon which orbited in 1960, is scheduled for launching from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Friday. It is to expand to a diameter of 135 feet in space, and the United States and Russia have agreed to try to bounce signals off its aluminum skin. It would be their first joint experiment in talking via satellite.

Relay 2, an active communications satellite, built by RCA, and Echo 2, which has no electronic parts and serves only as a reflector of signals, are different approaches in a U.S. effort to determine the most effective type of satellite for a global space communications system.

Most experts believe an eventual network will consist of three to six satellites similar to the Syncom 2 payload launched last year. Syncom satellites orbit 22,300 miles high, where their relative speeds match that of the earth and they appear to hover over one spot.

The higher altitude poses many technical problems, but most engineers are confident they can be overcome.

Non-Resident Group Fights State Tax Laws

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The attorney for the Non-Resident Taxpayers Association of Illinois and Michigan says the 400-member group will challenge in a court suit Wisconsin's income tax laws covering non-residents.

Adeline J. Goe-Karis, an attorney from Zion, Ill., said she planned to enter the action today in a U.S. District Court suit.

The attorney said the suit would ask the court for a declaration of judgment and injunction and any other necessary relief for out of state residents working in Wisconsin and subject to state income tax laws.

She said she was representing three American Motors Co. employees, Casey Gary, Zion, Ill.; Paul Woodman, also of Zion, and Allan Cowie, Winthrop Harbor, Ill.

The attorney claimed the entire statute relating to the taxation of non-residents was written in such a manner "as to be misleading, vague and ambiguous, thus preventing due process of law."

She said the association would claim the statutes covering non-residents were unconstitutional under Wisconsin and United States laws.

Hanson Bitter But Will Work For Reynolds

'Petty Political
Pandering' Hit by
State Chairman

MADISON (AP) — Democratic State Chairman Louis Hanson said today that "despite the petty political pandering of the ward heeler types that seem to have the Governor's ear," he believes party members should work for the reelection of John W. Reynolds.

In a bitterly phrased statement, Hanson said that "the impression has grown that people within the party who have supported Sen. Gaylord Nelson have no role, or if you please, no right to participate in the campaign to re-elect Sen. William Proxmire and Gov. Reynolds."

Stresses Need for Unity
However, Hanson added, "I as a firm Nelson supporter, shall continue as state chairman and shall stump this state from north to south, east to west, to insure re-election. It is important that those of us labeled 'Nelsonites' know that we have a role to play."

"I deeply regret that our former state chairman and certain members of the Governor's staff carry their personal feelings about Sen. Nelson to the point that they would try to deny John Reynolds the support of this large body of dedicated Democrats."

The long feud between Nelson and former State Chairman Patrick J. Lucey broke into the open again Sunday when Lucey and Reynolds joined forces to win an interim appointment as Democratic National Committeeman for Lucey, over a candidate backed by Nelson. The post was vacated by U. S. District Judge David Rabinovitch.

In a heated statement after the Sunday meeting, Nelson said he was considering a head-on clash with Lucey for election to a full term as committeeman at the party's state convention this summer.

2 Fatalities on State Highways

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Racine County school boy became the state's 54th traffic victim of the year today. On this day in 1963 Wisconsin had recorded 34 highway deaths.

Kenneth Woeckner, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woeckner of rural Racine, was killed today when he was hit by a car as he walked across Highway 45, north of the city, on his way to the Drought School.

Rav Gerfen, 70, was killed Tuesday night when struck by a car as he crossed a street block from his Madison home.

Delegates Waiting for Red Reaction

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
GENEVA (AP) — Western and neutral delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference expressed confidence today that the Soviet Union is studying President Johnson's new arms control proposals with exceptional interest.

The President, in a message read at the conference's resumption Tuesday, proposed a verified freeze on the number and specifications of nuclear delivery systems—missiles, submarines, planes and the like—and a controlled cutoff in the production of nuclear materials for weapons.

Other Proposals
Some delegates believed two less spectacular proposals by Johnson had better chances of a favorable Soviet reaction. These called for agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations that don't have them and a system of observation posts to prevent accidental war or surprise attack.

These in general coincided with two points proposed by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin as part of a seven-point program of negotiations, but agreement was not complete.

Johnson, for example, worded his proposal to ban the transfer of nuclear weapons so that it would not apply to the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Alliance. Tsarapkin called for prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons to multilateral forces as well as to individual nations.

Preliminary Proposals
Johnson's proposals for the first time broke up the huge and complex package of general disarmament, long deadlocked in the two-year-old conference. A general disarmament treaty still is the ultimate goal, but the U.S. proposals are preliminary measures which might start the powers toward a comprehensive treaty.

The U.S. proposals also included a treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force and subversion, and a new effort to ban underground nuclear weapon tests, excluded from the limited test ban treaty.

There was no immediate indication of the Soviet response. The first indication may come in the next meeting of the conference, on Thursday.

'Too Early for Baby,' Infant Born in Taxi

DENVER (AP) — Mrs. Marshall Williams, 25, rose early Tuesday and went to the hospital because "I just knew my baby was coming."

The doctors told her it wasn't time yet. She returned home. Two hours later, a taxi was called for a second trip. Her husband delivered the baby girl in the back seat of the cab.

Carriers Delay Cuts In Jobs of Firemen

Agree to Await Outcome
Of Union Appeal to Courts

CLEVELAND (AP) — The nation's railroads, who won a federal arbitration award eliminating firemen's jobs on diesel freight locomotives, will delay putting the award into effect pending a union appeal.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen said the railroads have agreed to delay application of the arbitration award, which was to have gone into effect Saturday.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the rail union, said the agreement, signed Tuesday, specifies that if the courts uphold the award it then will go into effect, remaining in effect for two years, as specified by the seven-member arbitration board Nov. 26.

The brotherhood and two other rail unions have filed legal actions. A lower court upheld the award, but the unions have taken steps to appeal that ruling.

A spokesman for the brotherhood said some 30,000 jobs theoretically are involved. However, since the bulk of the jobs are to be eliminated as they are vacated — by retirement, resignation, or death—the two-year span will not allow elimination of that many posts.

J. W. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, said in Washington Tuesday's agreement delays action on the firemen issue but noted that Jan. 25 will still be the cutoff date for determining who will be laid off. Those firemen with less than the required seniority as of Jan. 25 are the ones who will be affected, he said.

He also said the carriers will go ahead as scheduled with new rules governing the size of crews on Jan. 25.

Lucey Will Head Johnson Forces For State's Votes

MADISON (AP) — Former state Democratic chairman Patrick Lucey, recently named the state's Democratic national committeeman, was selected Tuesday to coordinate President Lyndon B. Johnson's Wisconsin campaign.

The appointment was made from Washington by Gov. John W. Reynolds, who said the assignment of Lucey to the post was asked by the Democratic National Committee.

The governor is chairman and Lucey secretary of the Wisconsin for Johnson Committee, described by Reynolds as the first voluntary organization formed to back a Johnson campaign for election as President.

Italian Parliament To Probe Dam Disaster

ROME (AP) — The Italian cabinet has retired the prefects of Belluno and Udine provinces, which were ravaged by the Vajont Dam disaster, and agreed to call a parliamentary inquiry.

Nearly 3,000 persons perished when a mountainside caused the dam's reservoir to overflow, sending a wall of water crashing into the valley last Oct. 9.

15,000 Voided Traffic Tickets Found in Vault

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The names of public officials, police officers and newsmen appeared on voided traffic tickets as Police Chief Howard O. Johnson opened for inspection Tuesday a file previously locked in a vault.

The file contained about 15,000 tickets released from 1944 to 1963. A great majority of them were for parking violations and only a few for moving traffic offense.

The name of Alderman George Whitlow was on about 2,000 of the tickets, with his name appearing in notations setting out details of the release. Similar notations indicated the district attorney's office asked the release of 1,500 tickets from 1944 to the present.

The office of Mayor Henry Maier asked the release of 106, and 2,500 were voided at the request of newsmen.

The records also showed that many other aldermen, the city attorney's office, police officials and representatives of the Fire and Police Commission had asked release of others.

La Crosse Mayor For Tax Ceiling

WAUSAU (AP) — La Crosse Mayor Milo Knutson said Tuesday that tax bills will double in the 1960s, as they did in the last decade, unless there is a revolt by taxpayers.

Knutson told a meeting of the Wausau Taxpayers League, "We must halt increased spending and increased taxes or become serfs." He called for a statutory limit on taxes, with the limits to be exceeded only with referendum approval.

Saying that the majority which elects public officials later divides into minority groups that make demands on lawmakers, Knutson said elections should be held immediately after approval of budgets.

'Gifts Strongly Condemned'

Delaware Senator Assails Johnson For Accepting Stereo Console in '59

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson's acceptance of a free stereophonic console, disclosed in a Senate investigation of former Senate aide Robert G. Baker, drew fire today from Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

Williams said in a statement: "Under preceding administrations the acceptance of lavish entertainment and large gifts by officials of the U.S. government was strongly condemned, and it cannot be condoned now any more than it was then."

$200,000 Policy
Williams' statement referred to testimony by Don B. Reynolds, Washington and Silver Springs, Md., insurance man, that in 1959 at the suggestion of Baker he gave Johnson a stereo set costing more than $500.

President Johnson then was the Senate Democratic leader. Reynolds had sold $100,000 of insurance on Johnson's life in 1957. The amount was increased to $200,000 in 1961 after Johnson became vice president.

The insurance man also testified he agreed to buy over $1,200 worth of advertising on a radio-television station in Austin, Tex., owned by the LBJ Co., which is paying the insurance premiums. Mrs. Johnson controlled the LBJ Co. at the time, but has put her stockholdings in trust since Johnson became President.

It was a demand by Williams, who had investigated Baker's outside business activities, which set off the Senate Rules Committee's investigation of the former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority and disclosure of the gift of the stereo.

Reynolds was questioned at closed sessions of the committee Jan. 9 and Jan. 17. A transcript of his testimony was made public Tuesday.

In his statement Williams harked back to investigations in prior administrations in which gifts of home freezers, fur coats and an oriental rug to government officials were criticized.

"I see no difference in the acceptance of an expensive stereo than in the acceptance of a mink or vicuna coat, a deep freeze or an oriental rug."

Says Return Expected
Williams said he believed anyone giving gifts to public officials expects something in return, and "any public official who accepts such gifts is not so naive as to be unable to recognize that point."

Reynolds testified that he regarded Baker, a former South Carolinian like himself, as someone who could provide him with access to important clients and had paid the former Senate aide about $15,000 for his help.

He said he had given Baker $4,000 for assisting him in obtaining a commission of about $10,000 in 1960 as broker for a performance bond required of Philadelphia contractor Matt McCloskey who built the District of Columbia Stadium.

Democrats Plan More Use Of Dinners

Testimonials Will Play Big Role in Party Fund-Raising

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The testimonial dinner as a money-raising device will be employed as never before to fuel the Democratic party's drive for votes this year, according to plans made known by party headquarters. At least three major and statewide dinners already have been planned to finance the campaigns for the party candidates for governor, U.S. senator, and on behalf of the campaign to win a majority of votes for the national party ticket in fall. At the same time the state party financiers are urging congressional district chairmen to arrange such affairs in their own districts, which could add as many as ten dinners to the list for which ticket purchases will be solicited. Many local candidates have started to employ the technique as an effective means of raising campaign funds that otherwise are hard to secure. Both were successful beyond the expectations of the sponsors. Similarly, there were testimonial dinners at $50 a plate last year for Gov. John W. Reynolds and Sen. William Proxmire, both beneficiaries of new dinners at the same price per plate in the spring or early summer. In combination, the affairs are likely to produce the $200,000 in net profit party managers believe they will require to make an effective drive this year, on the basis of previous J. Thiel.

Transient Merchants Must Have Licenses

KAUKAUNA — The city council Tuesday night adopted an ordinance governing the licensing of peddlers, solicitors and transient merchants.

After defining persons covered in the ordinance it lists exemptions and requires a $5 application fee. The fee is payable to the city clerk, and the police chief has 72 hours to check the applicant's character before a peddling permit is issued.

Violators of the ordinance are subject to a $100 fine or 30 days in jail. Upon demand by citizens, the peddler must display his license or permit. The ordinance was recommended by the Chamber of Commerce.

Council members approved a resolution whereby for a fee of $1 the county will transfer two lots on Green Bay Road to the city. The lots are located near the Grignon Home property and are tentatively earmarked for development of a recreational area.

The deed with its restrictions was referred to the health and recreation committee for study and recommendation.

Safety Committee

A report from the city's insurance carrier indicated the accident frequency rate among city employees did not compare favorably with other communities in the area and indicated some action should be taken to help reduce accidents.

Council members then approved a recommendation of the safety committee requiring all city employees to report all accidents, whether injury or property damage occurs or not, to his foreman or supervisor before

Charlie Retells Panama Canal Story, Long Battle Against Jungle Diseases

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It is apparently an easy thing for Panamanians to forget that Panama was one of the worst places on earth before the United States sought to cope with its problems.

If we, too, have forgotten the extent of our operations to improve Panama, let us review here the description of James Anthony Froude, brilliant British historian. In 1885, he wrote:

"In all the world there is not perhaps now concentrated in any single spot so much foul disease, such a hideous dung-heap of physical and moral abomination . . . the home, even as Nature made it, of yellow fever, typhus and dysentery."

To look back even further, the hope for a canal there dates back to the year 1523 when a Spanish explorer, Alvaro de Saavedra, proposed that such a canal be dug to facilitate the passage of ships between Europe and the Orient.

Charles V of Spain ordered surveys and a working plan. These were completed by 1529. But, because of the disease ridden region, nothing was done about it for almost 300 years.

In 1819, the Spanish government formally authorized the construction of the canal and the formation of a company to build it. But disease and political fear stopped the plan even before it was started.

A few years later, the republics of Central America attempted to enlist the aid of the United States and-or Europe in building the canal on the grounds that they had neither the tools nor the skill to do it. The Congress of the United States entered upon many debates but came to no decision.

Colombian Attempt

Then, in 1876, an international company was urged into existence by the Colombian government and they were given the concession to build the canal. The company was not successful.

Four years later a French company, the Panama Canal Company, took over the concession and spent eight years trying to dig the canal, but the diseases were too great a problem. The company, under Ferdinand de Lesseps (the builder of the Suez Canal), couldn't manage the job. In 1889 it went bankrupt.

Four years later the same company was reorganized and began once again to try to complete the canal, but to no avail.

Gets French Assets

The Congress of the U.S., in 1893, created a commission to recommend a route. The commission decided upon one through Nicaragua but was later offered the assets of the former Panama Canal Company of France for a price of $40 million.

Then in 1907 — after almost 400 years — American engineers went to work. The French efforts showed simply as a part-toes in its larval stage on their premises.

Then one day in September, 1905, Gorgas told some of his staff members that from that day on "there will never be any more deaths from this cause in Panama." And for 20 years after that day, there wasn't.

To clean up this hotbed of disease alone cost the U. S. some $2,500,000. The work also reduced the proportion of people admitted to malarial wards of hospitals, from 40 per cent to 10 per cent of the total.

Gorgas, through the efforts of the United States had converted the world's most pestilential spot into one of its most healthful, all in a 10-year period.

Perhaps forgotten, too, by the Panamanians is the fact that the construction of the canal cost U. S. taxpayers an additional $387 million.

No Criminal Negligence in Fatal Crash

Coroner's Jury Rules on Deaths Of Denmark Youths

GREEN BAY — A coroner's jury Tuesday ruled no criminal negligence was involved in a Jan. 8 traffic accident in which two Denmark High School students were killed.

After deliberating 40 minutes, the six-member jury ruled the deaths of Robert W. Pantzlaff, 16, Whitelaw, and Bruce W. Gehrke, 16, Denmark, were due to the ordinary negligence of the car's driver, Wayne Knuth, 16, Maribel.

The two were killed and five others injured when Knuth's car missed a curve on Brown County Trunk MM and struck a utility pole. The accident occurred as the youths were driving to Green Bay for hamburgers.

The jury ruling followed a three-hour inquest during which two youths who survived the accident testified Knuth had been driving at indicated speeds of up to 70 miles an hour on the way to Green Bay. Knuth himself refused to take the stand on the advice of an attorney.

No Criminal Charges

Following the ruling, Dist. Atty. Robert Warren said no criminal charges would be filed against the driver, although he held out the possibility of filing some type of traffic charge.

Testimony from two of the survivors, Eugene Petska, 16, and Robert Cervenka, 18, both of rural Denmark, detailed events leading to the accident. The testimony disclosed:

The seven youths involved in the accident had gone to Mishi-cott with a school bus to attend the Denmark-Mishicot basketball game.

After returning to Denmark about 10 p.m. Cervenka with several other youths drove around the Denmark area before taking a girl home.

About midnight, Cervenka and Petska met Knuth in Denmark. About the same time, another youth, Eugene Dahlke, 17, also of rural Denmark, joined the group. The group decided to drive to Green Bay for hamburgers.

With Knuth behind the wheel, the car headed for Green Bay, inside were Knuth, Ronald Lieterman, 16, William Johnson, 16, Pantzlaff, Gehrke, Cervenka, Petska and Dahlke.

Lieterman asked to be taken home, so Knuth turned off U.S. 141 at Lange's Corners and drove on several rural roads to Lieterman's house.

While driving on U.S. 141 between Denmark and Lange's Corners, "we were going over the speed limit, were traveling about 65 to 70 miles an hour," Cervenka testified.

After dropping Lieterman at his house, Knuth followed a gravel road a short distance, then turned onto County Trunk MM, Petska said.

Both Cervenka and Petska said there was no warning before the accident. "The first I know is when I heard something hitting under the car. I guess it was gravel. I looked up and saw the pole and stop sign, then I ducked. When I opened my eyes, the car was stopped," Cervenka said.

Petska also testified he had no warning, other than hearing gravel strike beneath the car. "I looked around and we hit the pole. That's the last thing I remember," he said.

Both youths testified they saw no other traffic prior to the accident. Statements from Johnson and Dahlke, who still are hospitalized, also indicated there was no oncoming traffic.

In his statement, taken a short time after the accident, Knuth said he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car. Knuth's statement was read into the record over the objections of his attorney, Pat DeWane, Manitowish.

Testimony also showed Knuth had only a half bottle of beer at home before leaving for the basketball game.

Knuth's statement also indicated he knew of the curve, but didn't know its exact location.

signed as ambassador to Ireland, was treasurer of the Democratic National Committee at the time. He plans to handle Democratic campaign fund raising activities.

Reynolds testified he also paid $1,500 to William McLeod, chief clerk of the House District Committee, in connection with the same transaction. Informing that McLeod maintained the payment was for legal services in South Carolina, Reynolds said this was not so.

Reynolds' testimony, given at closed hearings Jan. 9 and Jan. 17, was made public by the committee Tuesday.

Conflict of Interest Studied

The committee is investigating whether Baker, who resigned his $19,600 Senate job under fire Oct. 7, engaged in Carthage College Physical education instructors Clayton Diskerd, left, and Jon Swift, turn their backs on what had been a 220-yard ice skating rink they had made for racing competition Feb. 8. outside business dealings that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

Reynolds told the committee that he bought the advertising time on the Austin station because he was led to believe by Walter Jenkins, a top aide to Johnson, that "it was expected of me."

Jenkins, in a sworn statement that was placed in evidence, denied knowledge of any arrangements by which Reynolds bought advertising time or ever suggesting that the LBJ Company should get any rebate from Reynolds' insurance commissions.

Reynolds insisted that Jenkins had discussed the purchase of advertising time with him.

At the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked to comment on the Reynolds testimony.

"Mr. Jenkins' statement which is part of the record makes it very clear the President never had any conversation with Mr. Reynolds about the record player and considered it a gift from a long-time employee," Salinger said.

Asked if Johnson did not receive an invoice which listed Reynolds as the buyer of the equipment, Salinger said, "I'm standing on the statement I made. I think it was very explicit."

Salinger reported, in response to another question, that Johnson gave the stereo machine to one of his household employees—not identified—"some time ago."

Reynolds also testified he and others went to see Rep. Abe Multer, D-N.Y., about "promoting" the business of the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Co. of Milwaukee, a firm whose stock zoomed after a favorable tax ruling from the Internal Revenue Service.

Reynolds said he never bought any stock in the Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Co. because

Roman Catholic Cardinal Dies

His Death Reduces College to 78; 52 Are Italian

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The death of another Roman Catholic cardinal increased anticipation today that Pope Paul VI soon will call a consistory to replenish the sacred college.

There also was speculation that the pontiff would make most of his choices from outside Italy, in line with his manifest desire to give the church's leadership a more international character.

Cardinal Chiarlo, 82-year-old Italian member of the Vatican Curia, died last night of an intestinal tumor at Lucca, his family home. He had been ill more than seven months.

Cardinal Chiarlo's death reduced the college of cardinals to 78 members. He was the third prince of the church to die since Pope Paul's election some unidentified "prominent man" gave Reynolds the "considered opinion, sir, that I should stay away from it."

last June and the seventh to die since the last consistory, in March 1962, at which Pope John XXIII increased the college to 87 members.

Vatican sources believe the next consistory might elevate 22 men, bringing the college of cardinals to an even 100 for the first time.

Cardinal Chiarlo's death cut the Italian membership of the college to one third. There are 52 non-Italians and 26 Italians, but 20 of the latter hold posts within the Curia, the central church administration.

Pope Paul has called for internationalization of the Curia.

Construction Contract

MADISON (AP)—A contract for construction of 3.31 miles of southside expressway on the Interstate 94 route in Milwaukee was approved Tuesday by Gov. John W. Reynolds. The $2.6 million contract with Edward Kracmer & Sons, Inc., of Janesville covers grading, base course and structure work between Layton and Rawson avenues.

Carthage Choir to Give 2 Concerts at Lutheran Church

The Carthage College a cappella choir of Kenosha, directed by William P. Roth, will present concerts of past and contemporary sacred music Feb. 9 at Trinity Lutheran Church, 209 S. Allen St. The concerts will start at 9 and 10.30 a.m. This year's tour is the 38th in the history of the Lutheran Church - supported liberal arts college and the first to originate from its new second campus in Kenosha, which was opened in the fall of 1962. The school has maintained its other campus in Carthage, Ill., since 1870. The Kenosha campus opened with a 265-member freshman class this year enroute to a four-year program. The 41-voice touring a cappella choir was chosen from more than 80 singers in the chapel choir organized a year ago. Director Roth, who holds bachelor's and master's degrees in music from Northwestern University, has been a member of the Carthage music department since 1957. He was appointed director in 1961. The local concert is one of 13 on an 1,800-mile tour of Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. There is no admission will be taken.

Answers

1. This has remained the same for years—1,055 males to every 1,000 females.

2. This is generally conceded to be Cuzco, Peru, believed to have been founded in the 11th century.

3. The Bible; I. Timothy 6:10.

4. Liberia, established in 1822 by a small colony of freed U.S. slaves.

5. There are almost three times as many widows.

Words Often Misused: Distinguish between FLOUT (to insult) and FLAUNT (to make a show of). Thus: "He flouted the authority of the court," and, "He flaunted his new title constantly."

Often Mispronounced: Chicanery. Pronounce shi-kain-er-i, to a needy family. If, by adding 4 more neighbors to this group, the cost to each is reduced by $4, how many neighbors were there in the original group?

Answer

11 neighbors. This can be solved algebraically by letting X equal number of persons in original group; then form the equation: $165X \text{ equals } 165 \text{ over } (X \text{ plus } 4) \text{ plus } 4$; solve for X.

CAN YOUNG CHILDREN THRIVE EMOTIONALLY WITHOUT THEIR MOTHERS?

CAMP HAPPINESS

Children brought up in institutions generally had better diet, better, you can have the beef and physical care than many steak for dinner. That way who remained with their moth— you'll get the benefit of the ers at home. But at the same steak and your eye will never time, they were intellectually, miss it.

emotionally and socially more retarded. The adopted child, or the child brought up by a loving aunt, will do quite as well as the one brought up by his "natural" mother. But every child needs a mother or a mother figure during the early years of his life.

Is there someone you can talk over your problems with?

Yes— No—

Yes, there must be someone in whom you have confidence in your community. It may be your minister or your family doctor. There may be a psychiatrist, mental health clinic, or family service agency in your community. Your public health nurse, school guidance counselor, or neighborhood social worker can hear you out and refer you to the kind of on-going help you need. You don't have to carry your difficult problems indefinitely. You will be wise to get them off your chest before they wear you down.

Must the only child be spoiled? Is the only child "special"? Do only children tend to be introverts? The booklet, "The Only Child," will answer these questions in solid, frank terms, in easy-to-understand language. Send 25 cents and your name and address for each copy. False. There is no magic in the traditional application of a slab of beefsteak to a black eye. You can get just as good results from applying cold compresses to the eye immediately for about 15 minutes every hour, says the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Pleated, Paneled, Slim Looks Presented By Italian Fashion Houses for Spring

By LOUISE HICKMAN
Associated Press Fashion Writer

ROME, (AP) — Five days of spring and summer fashion showings ended Saturday in Rome, with houses divided between the pleated, paneled look and slim, trim look.

Gregoriana was the last to show before the Florence previews took the spotlight. Her collection leaned definitely to neat and narrow lines.

Tiziani, a new Rome house offering its first official collection, had gone the same way on Friday night to pull Italian fashion back from the series of pleats and billows displayed by Centinaro, Garnett, Tita Rossi and Faraoni.

Those four displayed a thoroughly appealing feminine approach. But it lacked the verve and dash that everyone was looking for and finally found at Tiziani and Gregoriana.

Showing in Florence's Pitti Palace for five days will be some by Italy's most imaginative designers.

Their vague early predictions pointed to special importance for small bodices and pastel colors.

Over-all Italian trends for spring have not emerged yet, but from the Rome showings came these tendencies:

Skirts straighter but still soft.

Many waistlines reduced in front to give a long-legged look, but definitely not an empire look, with an easy fit following neat and natural figure lines.

Other waistlines softly drawstringed, and necklines drawstringed too.

Heavy, richly patterned pique, the star fabric for evening.

New importance for prints, especially in big watercolor pastel florals on linen, and

Tiziani's was an excellent collection. The house is staffed by bright young designers headed by a Texan former designer of stage sets, Evan Richards.

Slim and Plain

Of special significance was a Tiziani series of slim white dresses in muslin or cotton organdy. Most were very plain, distinguished by openwork hemstitch seams and bands of beaded lace. They were cinched at the waist in lavender, lime, pink, or yellow silk—a lovely look for summer evenings.

The Tiziani show opened with a group of brilliantly striped burnouses for the beach. These were ankle length and very billowy in sheer cotton voile.

Coats were tubular and made soft at the waist by tiny string belts. They had rounded raglan shoulders, narrow sleeves and little rolled, pointed collars.

Strapless short and long evening dresses had straight skirts, poufy with massed ruching and spangles or lace. These came in silk organza and were covered by sheer pullovers in the same fabric.

Snug, weskit bodices and straight skirts created a trim, unfussy look for the Gregoriana collection.

Body-Hugging Suits
Weskit insets, almost like a jumper top that stops short and straight across at the waist, kept suits and coats close to the body. Dresses were all tiny-topped.

Colorful lacy tweeds with chiffons printed in the same tweedy pattern were used for suit and blouse costumes. The chiffon showed outside the suit in big, rounded bandanna collars.

Pique evening gowns from Gregoriana, in white or apple green, were heavy with geometric-patterned beaded embroidery. They were slim, with long and slightly flared skirts.

In some showings during the week a mannish silhouette marked Sarli and Baratta. Sarli used George Sand as its inspiration. Baratta modeled its clothes along reefer lines.

De Luca steered a fine line between the feminine and the masculine, with nothing really fussy about the silhouette which he called the "sweater look."

Fontana made big news with mid-calf length for evening gowns.

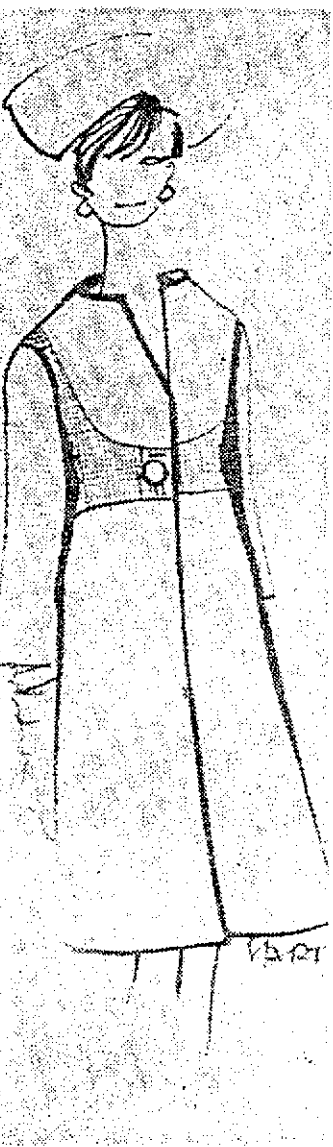

Shocking pink silk is one of the fashion heights for evening reached by Eleonora Garnett of Rome. The cocktail dress, belted through the waist, hangs in deep folds from neckline to hemline in back. The full cape-like coat is right for any evening flight.

The empire line and the A line meet in the coat above, designed by Patrick De Barentzen of Rome in light oatmeal and white tweed. It is fitted above the waist and falls into a modified A. The slim sleeves end below the elbow and the stand-up collar frames the neckline. The sketch at left is a slim summer dress from Tiziani, a new Rome fashion house headed by Texan Evan Richards. The dress is in sheer muslin or organdy with hemstitch seaming and beaded lace. The belt is pastel silk. At right is an evening gown offered by Tita Rossi of Rome. It is designed with pleat panels or pleated cape back in lame organza. It is in gold threaded lavender with beaded embroidery on welt pockets and the band of the back-dip neckline. The evening ensemble above, designed by Eleonora Garnett in Rome, is of print chiffon in a sleeveless cloak featuring a shirred, drawstring neckline. The outfit was presented at the 1964 spring-summer fashion preview just ended in Rome. At left is an example of how weskit insets give a trim line to a coat. This one is in a soft lime tweed, from the Gregoriana fashion house of Rome. The weskit effect is underscored by close stitching detail. At right is a Biki of Milan creation featuring a long dress and short coat. Italy's fashion news for evening. The designer is the granddaughter of Giacomo Puccini. She teams the long black georgette evening dress with a short yellow satin coat, slightly fitted, with long slim sleeves and a jewel neckline and small round collar.

Byrnes' Slate Does Not Bind Delegates

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Actual and potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination this year have been assured by the state Republican organization that the members of the "favorite son" slate to be organized here behind the name of Rep. John W. Byrnes will be absolutely uncommitted with respect to the genuine presidential contenders.

The pledge was given by Chairman Talbot Peterson of the Republican state committee in letters to prospective candidates outside Wisconsin explaining the purposes of the favorite son device.

Peterson explicitly denied that the delegate selection will be made to achieve a balance among delegates committed to candidates other than the favorite son—in refuting reports circulated by some hostile sources.

Apparent Result
One apparent result of such an arrangement will be to bar from selection for the Byrnes slate any of the prominent politicians of Wisconsin who had made previous expressions of support for such leading contenders as Sen. Goldwater and Gov. Rockefeller.

Under the law the delegate slate to be filed in the April election will be chosen by Rep. Byrnes. But Peterson's letter makes it evident that he has an arrangement with the party organization for the distribution of such places, and that they will be limited to candidates for delegate credentials who "will explicitly indicate, in advance, that their sole commitment is to the favorite son."

Peterson elaborated, in his letters to the so-called "national candidates":

Republican Victory
"Delegates will be responsible citizens of Wisconsin, respected in their communities for good judgment and dedicated to the philosophy of the Republican party and to Republican victory in 1964."

Although Peterson acknowledges that the goal of achieving an uncommitted delegation under the leadership of the veteran congressman will fail if any outside candidate decides to file in Wisconsin, it is now believed that all such other candidates will be dissuaded.

Thus there may be achieved the first "uninstructed" delegation, for all practical purposes, in the modern history of Wisconsin politics and Wisconsin participation in national presidential nominations.

Byrnes' Men
Technically such a delegation would be at the disposal of Byrnes, but only to a degree. The delegates would be legally bound to vote for him, among numbers of favorite sons and serious contenders at the San Francisco convention on the first ballot unless they were expressly released. But unless Byrnes picked up votes outside of Wisconsin to add to his Wisconsin vote pledges, he could not bind his delegates on subsequent ballots. Then he would become free agents, in the literal terms of the law which provided for their election, although it is likely that they would defer to some extent to his wishes as one of the senior leaders of his party in Wisconsin and one of the principal spokesmen of the party in the United States Congress.

Byrnes like his colleague, Rep. Laird of Wisconsin who was the principal promoter of the mechanism for an uninstructed delegation, has been carefully non-committal in the developing competition among national candidates for the nomination. Earlier in his career he was a close friend of former Vice President Richard Nixon.

Some Pray, Some Silent
It was just two months ago today that he was assassinated, and three years and two days after he was inaugurated as the 35th and youngest president of the United States.

Thousands View Grave Of John F. Kennedy
WASHINGTON (AP) — They still come by the thousands to the peaceful slope overlooking the capital where John F. Kennedy lies buried.

Some pray. Some leave flowers. Some just stand silent with their thoughts. Some just come to be brushed by history, to say they've been there.

It was just two months ago today that he was assassinated, and three years and two days after he was inaugurated as the 35th and youngest president of the United States.

Snow Gone
A spring-like rain and a warming sun had melted away most of the mantle of snow that had covered Arlington National Cemetery and the open hillside where the eternal flame burns over his grave.

Fresh evergreen boughs covered the base of the flame. There, on the boughs, were the military caps of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and special forces, tossed there the day they buried the commander-in-chief.

Among the boughs, too, were a rolled-up piece of paper tied with white ribbon, a bouquet of pink carnations, a nosegay of white chrysanthemums tied with red ribbon that faded pink on the snow.

Tokens Saved
Each evening, after ceremonies are closed, the soldiers take from the boughs all the remembrances that people bring. They are put in a box to be given to the Kennedy family.

Mostly the visitors just stand there and look at the grave with sorrow in their eyes.

The trees were bare, and the long white rows of gravestones cast long shadows.

The jet planes droned overhead, and across another hill the taps sounded for another man who had fought for his country and died.

National Citation
WAUSAU (AP) — Wausau, Wis., was named today by the National Fire Protection Association as the Grand Award winning U.S. city in the organization's annual fire prevention contest.

On the way to the top national citation, Wausau swept first place in all possible population, municipal and state divisions.

Hamilton, Ontario won the Grand Award for Canadian cities. More than 1,800 entrants in the 37th annual contest were judged on the basis of year-round effort to reduce fires and to educate the public in fire safety.

In the state division, Wausau ranked first, with West Milwaukee second and Racine third.

Ruby Defense Is Asking for Venue Change

3 Psychiatrists To Examine Dallas Man Before Trial

BY MIKE COCHRAN

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's defense team will return to court Feb. 10 to argue that his murder trial should be transferred out of Dallas because of "general animosity against him."

Meanwhile, Ruby will undergo an intensive mental examination conducted by a three-man panel of psychiatrists agreed upon by Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown.

Bond Bid
Chief defense lawyer Melvin Bell said he was pleased over court developments Tuesday, which resulted in creation of the panel but failed to gain Ruby's freedom on bond.

Another result was delay of Ruby's murder trial on a charge of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, the pro-Marxist accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy.

Brown said if he rules against a change of venue Feb. 10, the trial of the 52-year-old strip joint operator will begin Feb. 17. Otherwise, he will choose a new site and date for the trial.

Trial Schedule
The trial had been scheduled to begin Feb. 3.

The defense suddenly dropped its attempt to get Ruby freed on bond after the court agreed to appoint the team of psychiatrists.

Brown held a long afternoon conference with prosecution and defense lawyers and stated afterward that the psychiatrists' report must be evaluated in court, subject to argument from both sides.

"The jury will have to decide whether Ruby is sane or insane," Brown emphasized.

Defense counsel sought throughout the hearing to show that Ruby was a man with brain damage that would make him capable of killing without knowing it.

Ousted Sheboygan Chief Faces Quiz on Handling of Funds
SHEBOYGAN (AP)—Sheboygan County Dist. Atty. Arthur J. Olsen said Tuesday his office was investigating to determine whether there was a basis for criminal prosecution in the handling of various funds by ousted police chief Steen W. Heimke.

Olsen said he had held several meetings with police department officials to go over the financial procedures followed by Heimke, who was removed by the Fire and Police Commission for misuse of the money.

Patrolman Anton Simenz, president of the Policemen's Benevolent Association, said the group was checking legal steps necessary to secure return of association funds.

Stevens Point gained honorable mention.

In national competition, Wausau was first in the class for municipalities with populations ranging from 20,000 to 49,000, with Merced, Calif., second and Muskegon, Mich., third. West Milwaukee, the only other state city to gain a place in the national rankings, received honorable mention in the class for 5,000 to 19,000 population.

And in the United States municipal division, Wausau was first with Providence, R.I., second and Philadelphia third. West Milwaukee ranked 24th.

No Tent for Candidates

Laird Says GOP Platform Has Delineated Party Alternatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the 1964 Republican Platform Committee, said today the document finally adopted will set forth clearly the choice between the two major parties.

And, Laird said, there will be no attempt to arrive at a platform which would be a tent under which all of the potential candidates for the GOP presidential nomination could necessarily fit.

His 100-member committee will begin hearings July 6 in San Francisco, Laird said, a week before the party's nominating convention starts July 13.

He said it won't aim at including all the views of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, former vice president Richard M. Nixon or possibilities.

"If we try to write a document that expresses the viewpoints of all the major presidential possibilities as they presently express themselves, it would be meaningless," Laird said.

Checked Plans
Laird recently returned from a trip to the West Coast to check on arrangements for the committee hearings. He also conferred with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at Palm Springs, Calif.

A prime objective will be to hold the platform to about 3,000 words, Laird said. This would compare with the 20,000-word platform adopted by the Democrats in 1960 and the 15,000-word document approved by the Republicans the same year.

Equal Time Request
Expected From Church
SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — Church Unity Week, as celebrated in Sheboygan, included an unexpected development.

The sermon of the Rev. Dr. T. Parry Jones, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was delivered to the congregation at St. Peter Claver Roman Catholic Church last Sunday.

The Rev. Robert Hoeller said the public address system at St. Peter's picked up Dr. Jones' address.

"I'm delighted that I had an opportunity to preach to Father Hoeller's congregation," said Dr. Jones.

"I will be happy to give him equal time."

First Ladies' Jewels Shine in New Setting

Jewelry worn by America's former First Ladies has a special place of honor in the Smithsonian Institution's newest building which opened today. Displayed with all the pride that nations abroad display their crown jewels, the collection can be seen in the First Ladies Hall of the new Museum of History and Technology.

Diamond Hands
One of the most treasured pieces on exhibit is a watch that belonged to Martha Washington.

Dr. Edwin Olson
Nursery to Observe 5th Anniversary

"The Foundations of a Liberal Education" will be the topic of Dr. Edwin Olson, associate professor of psychology at Lawrence College, when the Appleton Cooperative Nursery meets Tuesday. The event, to be held at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Curtiss Tarr, will be the fifth anniversary meeting of the organization.

Mrs. Ted Osenroth, president of the Nursery, will have charge of the meeting. Coordinator will be Mrs. Bradner W. Coursen, vice president. Mrs. Martin Mathes is refreshment chairman.

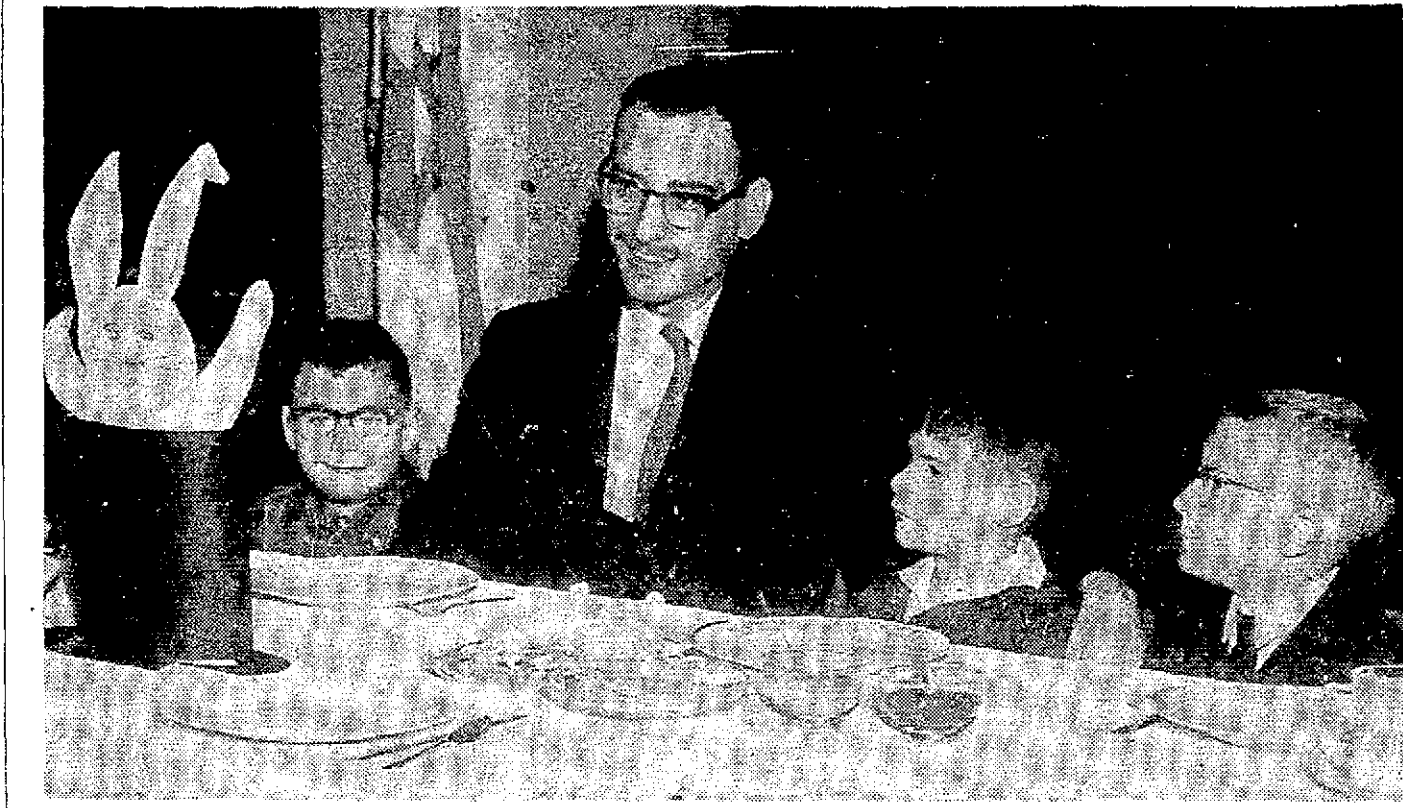

The organization will begin plans for an anniversary "Alumni Day" for graduates and their mothers, to be held April 10.

Mrs. Washington received it from her husband, whom she sometimes affectionately called "my old man", as a wedding gift. Washington ordered two cases for it, one of gold and the other enameled with a delicate colored miniature painting. In his letter to the jeweler, Washington stipulated, "Let the hour and minute hands be set with diamonds." The tiny sculptured hands, bright with rose-cut diamonds, can remind today's museum visitors of the shining hours of the first First Lady — and of the first President's devotion to his wife.

Six Inch Brooch
The second Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was Edith Bolling Galt, widow of Washington's oldest jeweler, Norman Galt, and her jewelry included some truly superb pieces. But it is doubtful if any of them matched the magnificence of the brooch she received from the people of Paris, after World War I, when the President was given the Freedom of the City. The brooch, now in the new museum, is six inches long and two and a half inches deep. Eight doves of peace, made of lalique glass, rest amid laurel branches shimmering with about 400 round diamonds.

Mrs. Lincoln's Watch
Visitors to the Smithsonian also can see a diamond watch that belonged to Mary Todd Lincoln. A bracelet watch from Geneva, it has a lid over the face in the manner of the "hidden watches" so much in vogue again this past year. The lid is enameled in blue with small diamonds set in a dainty floral spray. Museum officials believe that Mrs. Lincoln purchased the watch herself.

Though she is not usually thought of as owning much jewelry, Mrs. Lincoln actually had one of the finest jewel collections of any First Lady. She had, for instance, a splendid necklace of floral diamond clusters, bangle bracelets of gold and diamonds and long pendant diamond earrings. She also had several beautiful diamond rings which she wore over her gloves — often a long pair in purple kid. Her wedding ring was a plain gold circlet but in it Lincoln had his jeweler engrave a gem of an inscription — "Love is eternal."

When she visited the Court of the Czars, Mrs. John Quincy Adams remarked that there were so many diamonds worn at court functions that they would have to be measured in bushels. However, she didn't do so badly herself. Visitors to the new museum can see her seven-strand pearl necklace with its splendid diamond sunburst clasp designed to be worn in front. The clasp is square-shaped with a large center diamond surrounded by rays of small diamonds.

So far, relatively few of the former First Ladies are represented in the jewelry collection. Museum officials think there are many First Lady jewels still in the possession of heirs or antiquaries, and they hope that the present collection will grow through donations and bequests. "Jewelry is such a personal thing that it gives a valuable clue to a woman's personality," said Mrs. Margaret Klapthor, associate curator of the department of political history. "We can't have too much of it or of anything that belonged to the First Ladies, for each thing helps Americans know and understand better the women so important in their heritage."

Sherwood Auxiliary Membership High

SHERWOOD — Membership in the Thomas E. Kees American Legion Auxiliary unit has reached an all time high, with 51 women enrolled, it was announced at a Thursday meeting. Women having 15, 10, or five years continuous membership will receive pins.

Seven hundred small and 70 large poppies made by disabled veterans at Wood were ordered for the Memorial Day sale. Poppies are now made the year around at the hospital and auxiliary units use funds from poppy sales for child welfare and rehabilitation work.

Scholarship information, sponsored by the state and national organization, has been given to local schools.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Stumpf, Mrs. Walter Michiels and Mrs. Jerome Spang.

The Ailing House Placing New Grouting Over Old

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: In a few places, the grouting in our ceramic tile bathroom floor does not come up to the surface of the tile. Would fresh grouting adhere to the old grouting? This is a newly laid floor.

A: Adhesion is no problem. But since grouting varies slightly in color, I recommend having the tile man who did installation "correct" grouting job. Or find out what kind he used and proper way to add it to present grouting. If wet mix was used, usually old grouting must be dampened before adding new.

Q: The rubber tile on our kitchen floor has rust spots where the stove had been standing. What can I do to remove the stains?

A: Try careful rubbing of the rust spots with fine steel wool and a rust-removing preparation, available hardware, paint and housewares dealers. Be careful not to leave the rust-remover on the tile surface too long as it may cause the tile to deteriorate. If the rust has penetrated deeply, I know of no way to remove the stains without damage to the tile; replacing the affected tile may be the only remedy.

Q: We live in an older type home and the basement walls have been whitewashed in the past. Now, whenever something touches or rubs against these walls, there are white flakes falling on the floor. A constant mess. Is there any way to remedy this, other than putting paneling on the walls? Would rather not go to the expense of paneling.

A: There may be an accumulation of too many coats of whitewash. Easiest, and cheapest remedy, would be remove the present whitewash from the walls, leaving either the natural masonry surface underneath, or repainting.

To remove the whitewash, wire-brush off as much as possible. Then make a solution of washing soda, one-half cup to the gallon of hot water, and ap-

Italian Designer Looks to Straight, Fitted Fashions

BY LOUISE HICKMAN

ROME (AP) — Straight and fitted is the way Italian designer Baratta sees fashion for spring.

His collection, shown in the Italian presentations for spring and summer, was so simple that only superb cut marked it as high fashion.

The Baratta silhouette was constructed along slim reefer lines. The waistline was smoothly defined. Skirts and sleeves were straight and narrow.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. Unusually parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

Middle-Aged Women's Fears Reply to 'Color Me Gone'

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am enraged at that letter from the husband who signed himself, "Color Me Gone." Did it ever occur to him that many a wife would like to be colored Gone, too, especially after the big lum-mox has colored her black and blue a few

Landers

I address these remarks to the louse who criticized his wife for allowing herself to get fat and "uninteresting." When did he last hold her coat or open a car door for her? When did he last tell her she looked lovely, or that the dinner was especially good?

And the heel says if he wants more than a peck on the cheek she calls him a sex maniac? How does he treat her when they're alone? Does he use tender words and make her feel feminine and special? Does he convey the notion that he is

Dear Ann: I wrote "Prayer for Older People" in 1948. I wish to remain anonymous, however. My initials are: P. K.

Dear N. J. E., Constant Reader and P. K.: No comment.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)

Dear Blue: You have described well the fears and anxieties that haunt millions of middle-aged women.

It may surprise you to know that almost half of my readers are men, so approximately 25 million men will read your letter. I hope your husband is among them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can you settle an argument? What does "Lace Curtain Irish" mean? I am not telling which way I'm betting but a friend and I are in sharp disagreement.

Please don't tell us to look in the dictionary. We did and could find only "lace."

Thank you in advance.—Pat and Mike

Dear P and M: Lace Curtain Irish are people of Irish descent who have fruit in the house when nobody is sick.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am engaged to marry a very fine boy in June, after we both graduate from college. The problem is his mother.

I am willing to go along with some of her ideas because I love her son, but enough is enough. She has asked me to have printed on the wedding invitations "No gifts please." Unless we do this, she says she will invite only 10 people from their side.

My mother and I have never seen this done and we are afraid we will look ridiculous. Help, please.—Olive

Dear Olive: No mention of gifts should be made on an invitation of any kind. Tell her she'll have to settle for the ten.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you said you'd print the name of the author of "Prayer For Older People" if you knew it. This prayer often quoted by former Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York was sent to him by William E. Robinson, who in turn received it from a Mother Superior who wishes to remain anonymous.—N. J. E.

Editor Says Catholics Must Discover Church's Dynamism

Cross Currents Magazine Founder Speaks at Lawrence Religion Talks

Roman Catholics today are being called to personally "re-discover the social, corporate dynamism of the church," said Joseph E. Cunneen, founder and managing editor of Cross Currents magazine, in the first half of a dialogue on Christian unity yesterday in Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

The Protestant voice in the dialogue was that of the Rev. Kyle E. Haselden, managing editor of the Christian Century. The two men are headline speakers at the Religion in Life conference continuing through this evening at Lawrence. Cunneen said: "It may be that the most important work toward unity is going on among persons who have found the Word so hidden by organizational irrelevances of all churches, that even when they genuinely strive to listen to what may be beyond, they can hear nothing. We of the church must in response accept this gift of searching from those outside, and use it to make sure that in future decades the Word will have greater purity and relevance."

Contains Paradoxes
The Second Ecumenical Council, Cunneen observed, contained several paradoxes. "The church was called into council for renewal, self-criticism and reform; yet it has abandoned none of its previous claims. The church already bears the mark of holiness; but emphasizes that it is the church of sinners. Catholic infallibility is seen in practice in the day to day life of the church; yet it does not spare the Catholic theologian and scholar from the same burden of study, further reflection and intellectual honesty that is demanded of Protestants."

The Catholic church, he noted, is emerging from its defensive anti-Protestant posture of the Counter-Reformation. "In the

Circuit Court Jury Ponders Damage Suit

Town of Oneida Couple Ask Payment For Explosion Loss

A 12-man jury in Circuit Court today is deliberating damages to be paid a Town of Oneida man and his wife whose home was destroyed in a gasoline furnace explosion in December, 1959.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Peterson are seeking damages for loss of home, injuries and other expenses from the Sinclair Refining Co., whose agent, Norbert Bougie, West DePere, poured gasoline in place of fuel oil into the home's furnace tank on Dec. 9, 1959.

Bougie, when he discovered his error, attempted to remove the gasoline from the fuel tank by emptying it by buckets. Fumes gathered around the tank and a spark set off the explosion.

Supreme Court Decision
A Supreme Court decision last fall ruled the refining company is responsible for a safe delivery by its contracted agents. Circuit Judge A. W. Parnell has ruled Bougie was negligent in the operation of his delivery.

The jury must decide if the refining company was negligent in not distinguishing the gasoline fuel tank outlet from the fuel oil outlet and in not instructing its agents in the delivery of fuels.

Bougie's truck was equipped with four compartments, some containing fuel oil and some containing gasoline. Mrs. Peterson ordered the fuel oil, and Peterson ordered gasoline to be delivered on the same day.

Delivered Gasoline
Bougie delivered the gasoline into a gasoline tank at an outbuilding, then went to the home where he prepared to deliver the fuel oil. Bougie hooked his hose to a half-filled gasoline compartment on his truck and delivered approximately 100 gallons of gasoline before he discovered his mistake.

Peterson is seeking $11,840 for damages to his house, $1,710 for other expenses, $5,159 for furniture and $1,018 for hospital expenses. Both Bougie and Peterson were injured in the blast. Testimony ended Tuesday night in Circuit Court and the jury returned this morning for deliberation.

Street Site Offered To City for $48,000

Property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Simon O'Connell, and located at 300 N. Richmond St., has been offered for sale to the city for $48,000.

The offer was submitted today by Robert P. Hoepner, an Appleton realtor representing the owners. The city may need the property for the extension of Franklin to Richmond Street.

Speaker Sees End Of Rights Battle

Dr. Aubrey Young Says It Won't Take Century to Have Equality

"I don't think it will take another century before first class citizenship is a reality for all Americans," Fox Cities citizens were told Tuesday night by Dr. Aubrey Young, chairman of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights.

Dr. Young was referring to last year, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation, and that organizations such as the Urban League and National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had set 1963 as target date for accomplishing their goals.

Another capacity audience at Lincoln School Auditorium heard other reasons given in explanation of the current Negro pressures for equality in the United States. Reasons suggested have been the militant leadership of American Negroes now have, the newly independent African nations and Communist influence.

Bus Incident
Others feel the intensified campaign was triggered by a Montgomery bus incident where an elderly Negro woman was arrested and fined for refusing to yield her seat to a white person, Dr. Young related.

Backgrounding his approach to the subject of "Human Rights in Wisconsin Today," Dr. Young cited the close approximation to a "police state" experienced by human rights organizers in states such as Mississippi, South Carolina and Alabama. He quoted Aaron Henry, NAACP representative in Alabama, as finding "terror tedious." Henry has been typically exposed to danger so frequently as a result of his human rights work, that his only concession to it is an agreement not to go out alone after dark, he said.

In relating the human rights question to Wisconsin, Dr. Young said it is one of 29 states

Middle of the Road Recommended by Police Chief Wolff

Teenagers are taking more drives through Appleton parks than usual for this time of the year, officials said today. And, there's nothing wrong with it, say the police, park board commissioners and recreation department officials—providing junior keeps the car on the road.

Several motorists, most of them teenagers, have been sailing through the parks at a brisk clip, and straying off the road. As a result, turf and shrubs have been torn up.

"Anyone caught causing any damage in the parks will be taken into custody and required to make restitution," Police Chief Earl O. Wolff warned today.

Woman Injured When Auto Hits Crane Boom

Mrs. Gary Kilby, 29, 725 N. Clark St., received head injuries but was not hospitalized Tuesday when the car she was driving struck a 10-foot crane boom on a truck parked in the 500 block of N. Bates Street.

The accident occurred about 12 noon. Mrs. Kilby said she would see a doctor.

Appleton police said the truck was parked with the boom extending into the traffic lane. Mrs. Kilby said she did not see the boom because sun was in her eyes.

having "denial of rights" statutes, and has been since 1895. A similar congressional effort in 1873 was declared unconstitutional nine years later.

Concern for migrants and Indians has been more the Wisconsin problem, but his commission realizes all minority groups in the state can be affected by application of existing legislation and recognition of general needs, such as schooling opportunities for migrant children.

Winnebago Tables Plan For Joint Airport Study

K-C Official Makes Plea For Airfield

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County's largest single taxpayer, Kimberly-Clark Corp., through its secretary, Roger Baird, pleaded with the Winnebago County Board Tuesday afternoon to seek a joint airport study along with Outagamie County.

The plea went unheeded as the board, by a 27-23 vote, tabled a resolution calling for a study of the feasibility of a joint airport operation.

Baird pointed out the advantages a joint operation could have for the two counties, for its industry and for the taxpayers and complimented the foresight Winnebago County had shown in the past in establishing an airport.

Baird told the board he had been assured by Outagamie County persons they could bring pressure on their county board to hold up on continuing its airport development if Winnebago would go along with a joint airport study.

Presentation Text
Here is the text of Baird's presentation:

"I have asked for an opportunity to speak to you today because the issue before you is of major importance not only in terms of the money to be spent but in terms of the future of the Fox Valley, its citizens and its industry.

"I would like to present one viewpoint — that of the largest user of air service in the county (in fact, North Central's largest single customer) and also the largest taxpayer in the county.

"I hope it will help you make the right decision on this most important problem.

"Today the future and well-being of most non-metropolitan areas is tied directly to the public transportation facilities available, and air transportation continues to grow in relative importance to the others.

Nice to Have "To most of us air travel is not personally important. It is a convenient fast service which is nice to have available in case you need it sometime.

"To many business concerns, however, it is vital. This is true not only of businesses such as the one I represent which was born and grew up in this county, but to new enterprises seeking new locations as well.

"It is these business concerns, and the new ones which may be induced to locate here, that largely determine the prosperity and the rate of growth of our communities.

"This County Board, in years past, had the foresight to realize this, and created and developed the first airport facility in the area.

Served Well
"This facility has served us well. It has developed into one of the major airports in the state, and to date has been adequate for the types of aircraft using it.

"Outagamie County, with the exception of a small minority of its citizens, woke up to the importance of air travel very much later than you did. It did finally acquire an airport of sorts, and because of the substantial traffic generated in the area, was certified by the CAB for commercial service only a few years ago.

"Its service, handicapped as

Mounting Congestion Problem Would be Eliminated by Plan

Parking would be prohibited on both sides of Oneida Street between Lawrence and Washington Streets, and the right lane between College Avenue and Washington Street, be for straight ahead traffic.

Off-Street Parking
Rasmussen opined there is now sufficient off-street parking available "to more than compensate for the curb parking to be removed from Oneida Street between Lawrence and Washington Streets."

Oneida Street has a 42-foot width which presently handles two traffic and two parallel parking lanes.

The latest traffic count showed a 24-hour weekday volume of 7,386 vehicles between Lawrence Street and College Avenue, Rasmussen reported, and 5,653 vehicles between College Avenue and Washington Street.

However, it was estimated that 2,500 vehicles per day are turning right or left from Oneida Street onto College Avenue.

"These turning movements are approximately equivalent to those of northbound traffic at Memorial Drive and Prospect Avenue which are the heaviest on record in the City of Appleton, Rasmussen said.

Pedestrian Movement
Rasmussen said heavy pedestrian movement across and along College Avenue add to the difficulties of moving traffic through the College-Oneida intersection.

Between cars and people, congestion is resulting, Rasmussen indicated. He said vehicles wishing to move north through the intersection are trapped behind turning vehicles that are in turn stopped by pedestrians crossing the avenue.

Rasmussen predicted that, unless the recommendation is carried out, congestion will increase as motorists using the Prange Co. ramp and the city's East Ramp will build up traffic volumes on Oneida Street from Lawrence north to Washington.

He said only by using Oneida street for traffic, rather than parking, will the congestion be relieved.

The committee, along with Police Chief Earl O. Wolff, were in accord with the recommendations which now go to the council for final action.

Defendant Requests Hearing on Charge of Disorderly Conduct
Patrick Kerrigan, 38, route 1, Kaukauna, requested a preliminary hearing on a charge that he was disorderly Tuesday night in conversations over the telephone with nurses at the Kaukauna Community Hospital.

Hospital officials said Kerrigan swore on the telephone. Kerrigan was arrested after he telephoned Sheriff Calvin Spice and allegedly became disorderly on the telephone.

County Judge Gustave Keller has ordered Kerrigan held on a $1,500 bond in the county jail until his appearance Friday in court.

Outagamie County Court Branch County undertakes any expansion of the present airport.

Proposal for Study With Outagamie Rejected by Supervisors on 27-23 Vote

OSHKOSH — Stalemate re-engineering firm's report. Board members Tuesday removed the day afternoon's meeting of the Winnebago County Board.

Two more months must pass before Winnebago County's supervisors can decide if they want a joint airport study with Outagamie County.

In the interim, Outagamie County will continue with its airport development in Town of Greenville.

Crucial Votes
Pressure would have been brought to bear in Outagamie County to hold up any further developments on its airport if Winnebago County would agree to study the feasibility of a joint

Stafford said the resolution was an outgrowth of the survey which had advised such action. Supv. Herbert Ilk, Oshkosh, wondered, though, "when this steam roller is going to run out of gas. We have spent money and now we are asked for another survey and to spend another $25,000. I think we have had enough."

Parallel Thought
Thomsen said Outagamie County had a survey which said a joint airport would be best. "We have one which says the same. And neither of us go by their surveys. We are putting in duplicate facilities 15 to 20 miles apart that cost $6 million." He suggested seeking joint talks before the final step is taken so "we can at least say we tried. They are willing to listen to conversations."

Man Named Party Officer

Kaukauna Native Given Democratic Post in Fond du Lac

KAUKAUNA — Daniel Glasheen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Glasheen, 210 W. Ninth St., has been named one of four vice chairmen of the Democratic Party of Fond du Lac County.

A fourth grade teacher at Washington School in Fond du Lac, Glasheen follows in the footsteps of his parents, both of whom are long-time members of the Outagamie County Democratic party.

Glasheen recently prepared a 126-page report on the Sixth district political situation in which he stated, "Democrats are stronger in this district than even the Democrats think they are." In his first year at Fond du Lac, he compiled the report at the request of district party leaders.

He began work on the report in November and completed it in time to be submitted to the district gathering at Fond du Lac last week. Glasheen began his work in politics when only six years old, placing stamps on envelopes for his father who was running for Outagamie County sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

Thus the 28-year-old teacher feels he can claim a 23-year interest in politics. Prior to moving to Fond du Lac, most of his efforts were confined to the Eighth Congressional District. His report contains no new material, but is a condensation of material gained from state and national party organizations, census records, election returns and back records all compiled into a simple, single-book form.

Auto Vandalism
Norman Schreiber, route 4, Appleton, an employee at a car wash on E. Wisconsin Avenue, told police his car was entered, and the seats slashed sometime Tuesday while he worked. Schreiber said the keys were thrown from the car.

The resolution set forth the recommendation of the engineering consulting firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, which studied the Winnebago airport, to "determine whether Outagamie County will participate in studies of the feasibility and cost of a new joint airport in the Oshkosh-Neenah area."

First step before Winnebago County undertakes any expansion of the present airport. Although the resolution quoted Schreiber said the keys were thrown from the car.

Mercury Hits Record Reading as Fox Cities Fall to Spring Fever

The Fox Cities basked in warm sunshine Tuesday which sent the mercury to an all-time high.

Appleton's official 49 degrees was the warmest Jan. 21 since Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. started compiling official weather data in 1927.

It was like June in January throughout the region. The previous winter high was 44 degrees in 1944.

But don't pour that julep yet. The weatherman says a mass of cold air will move into the area tonight, and by Friday it will be "decidedly colder."

Plus, Minus
The warm weather brought with it this list of pluses and minuses:

—Snowfall has been as scarce as chocolate bars in World War II, and the skiers are in tears.

—Municipal skating centers have been transformed into pools. More tears from skaters, counts.

—Recreation Director E. W. Grover requested everyone stay off ice rinks until colder weather arrives. Races scheduled for Sunday at Jones Park may be postponed a week.

—Farmers are concerned over the lack of moisture which could seriously affect the 1964 crop. The average for Appleton since 1927 has been 43.4 inches a year.

—Water levels of lakes in the region, including Lake Michigan to the north, are down considerably. The average for Appleton since 1927 has been 43.4 inches a year. The average for Appleton since 1927 has been 43.4 inches a year. The average for Appleton since 1927 has been 43.4 inches a year.

LaCrosse Mayor Opposes Liberalism

Milo Knutson Talks to 300
On Appleton Civic Program

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Less government and more individual responsibility was prescribed for the ills of the country Tuesday by Mayor Milo G. Knutson of LaCrosse.

Knutson, a product of free enterprise and politics, delivered lethal blows to "political liberalism" in a talk before more than 300 members of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and civic clubs at the Conway hotel.

The 45-year-old former disc jockey, who parlayed a forceful personality and keen knowledge of current events with political savvy a decade ago to become his city's chief executive, touched all bases on the subject, "Poverty of Liberalism".

Throughout, Knutson repeatedly warned the "heaven on earth" concept of living is weakening the basic foundations of the country and the United States' position with communism.

He said liberalism, as he described it, has been the prevailing political philosophy of our time since the turn of the century.

Knutson said history will show that of all the presidential hopefuls of the past three decades, Socialist Norman Thomas had more of his principles adopted than any other candidate.

"I may tell that Franklin D. Roosevelt was in secret a conservative who talked a good liberal line," a philosophy that got him votes," Knutson said.

Destruction Predicted

He predicted that unless the American people make an about-face, the liberalistic theories being pressed by modern political intellectuals would lead the country to destruction.

Having benefited from 22 years experience in radio, both management and news, the thought-provoking Knutson took a few swipes at the press, radio and television for "the things they don't tell by omission and those they do by emphasis."

"We are the least informed people outside the Bamboo and Iron Curtains," said Knutson, who is also news director of Radio Station WKTY of LaCrosse. He blamed newspaper and news gathering agencies for being too quick to tell about things that put the government or the U. S. in the best light.

On taxes, Knutson said to reduce taxes without balancing the budget is "assinine" and an attempt to insure the country's prosperity beyond next November's presidential election.

"President Johnson has taken over the late president's tax program lock, stock and barrel," Knutson said.

It was Knutson's opinion that liberal philosophers have been advising presidents and calling the tune no matter what party is in power, and intimated this was true for the past 30 years.

He criticized past presidents for positions taken on world situations, some alienating our allies.

He spoke at length on communism, describing it as a religion based on atheism with the deep philosophy that "heaven is to be on earth and forget about the supernatural."

"What makes some people in this country want to apologize

United Church Plans Capital Fund Campaign

Congregation Sets November Drive For Building Funds

St. John United Church of Christ is planning a capital fund drive in November to raise money for construction of a new church.

At the annual congregational meeting the church council was authorized to arrange for the fund drive under the Church Finance Advisory Service, St. Louis, the denomination's advisory fund-raising organization.

The council also was authorized to ask Theodore Irion and Associates, Oshkosh architects, to prepare preliminary building plans. The new church will be on W. Marquette Street between N. Mason and Summit streets.

A date for beginning construction has not been set, and no definite plans on the type of building have been made. Construction possibly will be in two or three stages.

The congregation also voted to declare "its membership open to all persons who accept the obligations of membership in the church of Jesus Christ," as recommended by the General Synod. The Rev. John Seidler, pastor, said all congregations had been asked to make this declaration to show they had no objections to anyone on the basis of race or color.

John Mayefski, John Barnes, Russell Cottrell and Hilton Williams were elected to the church council, succeeding Norbert Sedo, Donald Montour, Wilmer Casperson and Michael Jones.

The new members will be ordained and installed during the morning worship service at 10:15 a.m. Sunday.

Lawrence Seidler was elected president of the church council, to succeed Robert Lieske. Other officers elected by the council are Lieske, vice president; Leslie Brackey, secretary; Donald LeClair, treasurer, and Kermit Feldmann, financial secretary.

Lieske presided at the annual meeting.

Share Prices At New Highs

Key Issues Advance Fractions to Point In Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved into new high ground early this afternoon as the result of a fairly vigorous advance.

Trading was active. Key stocks rose from fractions to a point or more. Higher-priced, more volatile issues added 2 or more points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 290.8 with industrials up 1.4, rails off .1 and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.61 at 781.05.

Both averages were above their record closing highs and, if gains were kept until the end of the session, would post new highs.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were higher and active.

The rise was accompanied by an assortment of encouraging news from various corporations.

Airlines, tobaccos, steels, electrical equipments, aerospace issues, mail order-retails, utilities, office equipments and drugs moved higher.

Motors were unchanged to narrowly mixed. Rails were uneven. Chemicals edged ahead on balance. Oils responded to investment demand.

Knutson also predicted the showdown between the West and communism was drawing near.

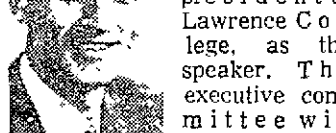

He explained that the modern intellectual advocating liberalism rarely takes religion seriously — whether he be right or left wing — and as a result is no match for a Communist whose objective is likened to his own.

Knutson said the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy by his fight for principles, not necessarily by his methods, swung many Christians from the Democratic side of the ledger to vote for President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956.

Paper Group to Hold 30th Annual Meeting

MENASHA — The Wisconsin Paper Group will hold its 30th annual meeting at noon Saturday at North Shore Golf Club with Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, president of Lawrence College, as the speaker.

Dr. Tarr North Shore.

Officers and executive committee members of the Paper Group, a non-profit organization, c. 34 Wisconsin paper firms to consolidate less than carload orders into pool carloads for shipment on definite schedules to all major markets of the United States, will be elected during the business meeting. Irwin Pearson, executive secretary of the Paper Group for its entire 30 years, will present his annual report.

In observance of the 30th anniversary of the organization, all past presidents have been invited to the program.

Dr. Tarr came to Lawrence in September from Stanford University where he was assistant dean of humanities and director of the summer school. He received his bachelor's degree in economics and his doctorate in American history at Stanford and his master's degree at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

The educator also was active in business and politics in California. He was a candidate for the United States Congress in 1958, a member of the second Hoover Commission in 1954-55, a consultant to the chief of ordnance, U. S. Army, and was a discussion leader for two California governor's conferences on children and youth.

'Big Headache'

Appleton to Madison Tax Record Shift Begins

The man with the biggest tax headache in Outagamie County and very possibly with the biggest headache in 18 surrounding counties today is J. L. Tibbetts, the district state assessor of incomes.

Tibbetts began directing a shift of tax records and equipment which have been kept in the Appleton area since 1911 to the state's tax center in Madison. Tibbetts estimated that over three large moving van loads of records will be shipped to Madison before the shift is completed.

The van loads will represent tax records filed over the 52 years by an estimated 375,000 district taxpayers. In Madison the records will be "punched" into electronic tape and filed in IBM machines for future reference. Some of the records will be micro-filmed, and all of the records will systematically be destroyed over a long period of time.

When the records are gone, Tibbetts will meet with County Business Administrator, Alvin Woehler and other county officials to discuss the tax department's new space requirements. The shift in the records has freed much needed space in the courthouse for use by other state or county offices.

There are about 40 employees left in the tax department. At high "peak" periods, the office hired twice as many. The office was the processor of all tax forms in the district, handled the auditing and filing of all forms. Once there was a "key punch" operation which hired about 20 employees.

Handle Inquiries

Now, with the shift to the Madison center, the office will function as a "compliance" unit, to handle inquiries about tax forms, to settle legal tax questions and to service tax customers.

"It represents a lessening of our responsibility," Tibbetts said, "but we will still function here as an important part of the tax procedure."

Waits For Van

"It's a hard job," Tibbetts commented today as he waited in his office in the courthouse annex for the first van to arrive for the records. About him, on every available table top and desk were piled hundreds of record jackets, each carefully labeled and cross-indexed so that confusion "at the other end" will be kept at a minimum.

Taxpayers with inquiries can still get information from the records previously stored in the courthouse by going to the tax office. An elaborate communications network between the central office and the field units will be established to provide information as fast as possible. Taxpayers will also be allowed to file their returns in the Appleton office, but they will be merely sent forward to Madison for processing.

Attorney, Wife To Appear on Cost Assessment

Appleton attorney Allan C. Cain, 57, and his wife, Margaret, 59, are scheduled for a hearing in federal court in Milwaukee on a motion to assess them $3,097 of the cost of their prosecution on income tax evasion charges.

The motion was filed Tuesday in a U.S. District Court. Louis W. Staudenmaier Jr., an assistant U.S. attorney, said the hearing is scheduled for Feb. 2.

Cain, well-known courtroom attorney, and his wife, were convicted in 1961 on four counts of evading $19,946 in taxes for the years 1953-1957. They were fined $2,000 each and received one-year prison sentences. Both were paroled in 1962 after serving six months.

The Wisconsin Bar Association placed Cain on 18 months suspension after his conviction.

K-C Official Makes Plea for Joint Airport

it was by a very poor airport which limited the kinds of aircraft that could use it, has grown and prospered also, offering competition to the Winnebago County airport and reducing its schedule.

"Outagamie, realizing that its facilities were inadequate, four years ago ordered a survey of their problems and a plan for the future from a firm of airport consultants of national reputation.

Total Picture

"This report suggested that their problems were intimately tied into the total aviation picture for the Fox Valley region and that the matter should properly be considered jointly with representatives from this county.

"The suggestion that a joint airport might be able to serve the needs of both counties, coming from experts in the field of education, created much interest.

"We were interested, and supported the suggestion, for the following reasons:

"1. It was apparent that Outagamie was finally serious about a good air facility.

"2. Such a facility, if separate, would in all probability offer serious competition to the Winnebago County airport, and instead of having one good commercial flight schedule, (which is most important to us), we would wind up with two poor ones.

"3. The expense of a new fa-demands of the fullness of truth, Catholic, Protestant, Jew together with the honest searcher, can genuinely learn from one another." He predicted that from this would come "another stage in the expression of Catholic truth."

Rev. Haselden called for charity, dialogue and inner renewal of the church as the guidelines for unity.

He said we are living in an ecumenical century. During the first half, the Protestants dominated the ecumenical spirit. Now during the second half, Catholicism has entered it with the Vatican Council, and "one of the high points of the ecumenical movement was certainly the meeting of Pope Paul VI with Athenagoras of the Church of Greece."

Ecumenical Spirit

Why has the ecumenical spirit flowered now? Haselden asked. "Because people have been thinking, working and praying for unity among Christians; because hostilities are not theologically defensible; because Christianity is a declining minority, in jeopardy in the world; and because in the battlelines of Christendom we are discovering our need for one another."

Discussing paths to unity, Haselden said charity was "not soft-headed, but exercises judgment." He appealed to Protestants and Catholics alike to acquire their knowledge of each other's beliefs "at the highest level of interpretation — from the most intelligent and earnest people they can find."

On dialogue, Haselden observed: "For a long time we talked about each other. This was disgraceful. Then for some time we talked to each other in screaming voices. This was disgraceful. Now we are beginning to talk together, to look together at the world and its needs. This is dialogue."

Internal Renewal

Rev. Haselden suggested the church start internal renewal by "asking what it should do in order to be more Christian—then it is much easier to work toward unity, and in the distant future toward union." He recommended taking up the easy problems first — "the ones that in this time really lend themselves to solutions. Then there is a possibility of solving the more difficult."

He closed with a plea for mutual service between Catholics and Protestants — to find "what we can do together and for each other."

The Religion in Life conference is the result of undergraduate planning, under the leadership of Davis Fisher, Westchester, Ill., chairman; and Kenneth Baughman, Oconomowoc, coordinator.

Tipsy Driver Fined $100

Dennis L. Gotter, Brillion, Loses Driver's License

CHILTON — A Brillion man was fined $100 and his driver's license revoked for one year by County Judge D. H. Sebra Monday on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Dennis L. Gotter, 21, 323 W. Water St. Brillion was arrested by Brillion city police Jan. 13.

cility would be tremendous, and looking ahead, we could see that there would also be substantial expense necessary at the Winnebago County Airport in the next 10 years if it was to be kept up to standard.

"4. With the obsolescence of the DC-3, newer and hotter aircraft were making their appearance both in commercial and private fleets. This raised the question of whether or not the existing Winnebago airport, hemmed in as it was by the city, the railroad and the highways could be economically expanded.

"5. The safety factor — landing and taking off over the city is inherently far more dangerous both to those in the air and those on the ground, than over an unpopulated area. We have never had a major accident and I hope we never will, but any plan that would minimize the danger if we should have one is certainly worth consideration.

Pros And Cons

"The exploration of the pros and cons of a joint facility has never taken place, for a variety of reasons.

"In the meantime, much water has gone over the dam. You have gone ahead with airport improvements. Outagamie is presently starting its airport program, and you are now faced with a further program here.

"In the interim other airport experts have had their say. The CAB has had hearings on the subject of regional airport service. North Central has testified to its interest in a joint facility to serve the whole Valley, and most recently your own study by recognized airport engineering consultants has again raised the question of a joint study.

"The unanimity of opinion among the several qualified engineering firms who have looked at the situation in the Valley, the major users of the airport facilities themselves, and the statements of the CAB examiner and others to the effect that a single airport might be located in this area in such a way as to serve the needs of the entire Valley is worth serious consideration.

kosh, thought the resolution meant Winnebago County would be abandoning its present airport. She urged the Board members to think of how much Winnebago County has put into its airport. "Outagamie County has used ours for years. I don't like their way of telling us it is outmoded. That is not good neighborliness."

Staffeld said re-routing State 26 would be one of the largest segments of cost in expanding the Winnebago airport and said the resolution asked for a study, not any expenditure of money.

Thomsen added the resolution was not trying to scuttle the Winnebago airport, but to see if something can be done before money is spent to expand the airport.

Foot In Door

Ik called the resolution a "foot in the door." I thought we had this resolved. I wonder if Outagamie County thinks it has made a mistake in its locations."

Supv. Gordon Hanson, Town of Winchester, recalled the August, 1960, meeting when Outa-gamie County representatives presented the Leigh Fisher report suggesting a joint airport west of Neenah. "Supervisors were not allowed to ask questions," he said in reference to the Winnebago County aviation committee's conduct of the meeting. "We were gavelled down and the door is shut If we do not follow the survey recommendation, then we have wasted the taxpayers' money."

Rodlin said he signed the resolution to clear the confusion. "There have been too many personal opinions. The CAB recommended it (the joint airport study) and I am doubtful if we can receive federal aid as easily as in the past."

Joining Request

Joining in the request for a meeting with Outagamie County "to clear the air" and approach the subject "on common ground" were Supvs. Mueller and Robert Skalmoski, both of Neenah.

Supv. E. G. Steinhilber said acting on the resolution now would not be following the orderly procedure that has been set up. "We will meet Thursday with the FAA and State Aeronautics Commission personnel. We have asked for their comments. I don't think we should overturn the apple cart now."

"I can't conceive that Outagamie will quit development of its airport with the contracts they now have. It might be possible, but I doubt it."

"They call it a general aviation field but the runway will be big enough for jets. It behooves our county to listen and wait. We don't have to jump into this 10- to 15-year program the consultants suggest."

No Groundwork

"To what extent do we have to accept this report?" Steinhilber asked. "Do we want to accept it hook, line and sinker. There was no groundwork laid for that conclusion (the one suggesting a joint meeting with Outagamie County). How do they come to that first recommendation without any approach to it? If we can get along with what we have, we are better off."

Speaker Sees End to Fight For Rights

ther in Waushara County who established a restaurant sent two sons to college and the sons now are teachers in the state. Given the opportunity, itinerant workers can make a valuable contribution to society, Young said.

James Irving Schmidt, 912 W. Summer St., and Susan Kay Beckman, 2012 E. Lucille St., both of Appleton.
James E. Grishaber, 711 S. Telulah Ave., and Penny Lynn Juergens, 922 E. College Ave., both of Appleton.

Robert L. Thies, 1115 N. Drew St., and Bette Ann Forrer, 803 N. Morrison St., both of Appleton.

Thurston R. Lambie, 118 W. 13th St., and Dolores Ann Wittman, route 3, both of Kaukauna.

Group Reaction

In answer to a question about reaction of human rights organizations, such as Urban League, to incidents involving Negro delinquency in Milwaukee Dr.

Young said several things are being done. Recreational opportunities are developed and field trips are used to demonstrate to group of Negro youths what kind of jobs and life they can have if they're willing to work.

He said when a charge of discrimination is brought to the attention of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, the formula used to solve a problem is persuasion, education and conciliation.

A pamphlet produced by the commission titled, "To Secure These Rights," simplifies Wisconsin statutes on individual rights with "this is what the law says" and "this is what it means" treatment, along with tips for travelers belonging to a minority group.

State Discrimination

Dr. Young said he knows of no hotels in the state which discriminate on clientele acceptance, but some Wisconsin motels, resorts and barber shops still attempt to erect barriers against persons who are not "Gentile whites." When convinced the law on "denial of rights" means what it says, compliance usually follows.

In Wisconsin industry and business, efforts of the Urban League, for example, have resulted in more management giving Negroes a real opportunity to qualify for available jobs on the basis of skills and merit.

Dr. Young said our "next challenge is how to learn to live together—learning what America is really like."

"Something there is that doesn't love a wall," he quoted Robert Frost, and concluded his lecture with the assertion: "What we need is not more walls — like the Berlin wall. Let's build bridges instead."

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — CBS Reports producer Jay McMullen felt there had been many documentaries on drug addiction, but "the business aspect of the narcotics traffic had been ignored." And so he has attempted, in "The Business of Heroin," to fill the gap.
6:30-8 (Channel 4-5) — Leo Genn does his best, but The Virginian may make you laugh where no laughs are intended. Genn plays a man who once was a coward at Balachlava, and has settled near Shiloh because the terrain is identical with that valley of death into which rode the 600. (Color)
7-7:30 (Channel 11)—The Patty Duke Show, besides giving you a chuckle or two, may introduce you to a phase of the publishing business you may not know about. That's the "vanity" publishers; you pay them and they'll print your book.
8-9 (Channel 11)—Ben Casey meets up with a young man (Robert Walker) who is something of a saint. Only problem is that he has a blood-clot and perhaps his saintliness will vanish with the clot.
8:30-9 (Channel 2)—The Dick Van Dyke Show has an unusual yarn, with a bit less comedy than normal but a bit more warmth and reality. The main figure is Joe Coogan, played by Michael Forest. He's one of Mary Tyler Moore's old beaux and she still has a box of his poems in the cellar. Now he's a priest.
9-10 (Channel 2)—Art Carney helps make The Danny Kaye Show a wild one. There are two main skits, but it is the closing "Evening With Carney and Kaye" — a wild mélange of songs, dancing and general nuttiness—which is the funniest.

Burglars Get $1,700 in Break-ins In New London and Clintonville
Waupaca, Outagamie County Authorities Investigate Series of Four Area Thefts
Authorities today were investigating a string of New London-Clintonville area break-ins Monday night which netted burglars about $1,700 in cash and merchandise.
Three of the burglaries were reported in O'Neils Supply Co., Modern Linoleum and Carpet Shop and Brown's Beer and Liquor Store, all in the same building on U.S. 45 south of New London.
Another break-in was reported at Clintonville Cooperative. Investigator Jack Frenzel of the Outagamie County Sheriff's department said the three stores near New London were entered through back windows.
Some $560 was reported missing from O'Neil Supply, $177 from the floor covering store, and $150 and liquor valued at about $130 from the liquor store. About $300 worth of merchandise was taken from the co-op.
Clintonville police said entry was gained by breaking glass in a north door of the building, then reaching inside and turning the knob. An attempt to open a walk-in safe was unsuccessful. A hole had been drilled through a cement block wall along one side of the safe, but not through the next reinforcement.
Goods Taken
Cash in the amount of $6 was taken from a pop machine in the building. Merchandise taken included four portable radios, hunting knives, a tool box, 20 cartons of cigarettes, shells valued at $25, flashlights and batteries, a seven-inch power saw, and one, one-half inch power drill.
Merchandise taken from O'Neil Supply included one portable TV set, four transistor radios, three clock radios and two portable typewriters. A locked file cabinet was badly damaged. Cost of the merchandise taken from O'Neils was set at more than $400.
Frenzel said the break-ins Monday night were among several in this part of the state the same night.

3 Business Classes Set At Appleton
Three evening business classes will start in February at the Appleton Vocational and Adult School.
Classes will be offered in shorthand dictation, review typewriting and legal problems of the independent merchant.
The shorthand dictation course is designed for persons who wish to build up their shorthand speed. Dictation will be given from 80 to 120 words a minute. Mrs. Robert Hallada will teach the course, which will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays from Feb. 12 to March 11.
The review typewriting course, planned to build speed and accuracy, will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursdays from Feb. 13 to March 12.
Dennis Herling, Appleton attorney, will teach the course in legal problems of the independent merchant. The course will cover legal proceedings related to selling or buying a business, installment contracts, collection remedies and enforcement proceedings, lease arrangements, and employment and unemployment laws. Classes will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays from Feb. 4 through March 10.
Persons interested may enroll at the school during the day or from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Waushara Joins Wolf Planning Unit
County Board Okays Affiliation, Votes Membership Funds
The Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission has a new member county, bringing the total in the commission to eight.
The Waushara County Board, by a 22-4 vote, approved a petition and appropriated funds for full membership in the commission at a meeting Tuesday.
The resolution supporting the action was signed by all members of the county's agriculture and conservation committee.
Gordon A. Bubolz, Appleton, Chairman of the planning commission, outlined the organization's program and purposes.
He said "increasing demands on our natural resources, and the necessity for protecting the diminishing sources of water supply and the scenic beauties of nature and growing recreational demands, makes a regional approach feasible for our maximum future well-being."
Develop Region
"Since the major part of Waushara County is in the Wolf basin, this county has both a definite interest in the development of the region, and it will be able to make a significant contribution by its support and cooperation."
The commission's planning director, R. T. Dittmer, explained procedures and programs of the commission and work which will be done under these programs.
He said new base maps and surveys of land use, soils, forestry, transportation, water wildlife and recreational needs are being prepared for the region, taking into consideration special features of each county and the development possibilities.

Figures in Economic Report Meaningless

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — For the last three days, the American people, and particularly the news correspondents in Washington, have been deluged with an avalanche of figures. This has been designed to prove that the United States from 1961 to 1963 has gone through a period of unexpected prosperity and that even better times are ahead for 1964. But the figures given are not complete and in many respects are meaningless, if not misleading.

Thus, the "Gross National Product"—the phrase supposed to describe the output of the whole economic system—is given in the president's economic report as reaching $623 billion in 1963. This is $259.9 billion above what it was in 1954, a decade earlier. But more than 40 per cent of this rise is due to higher prices, and the fact remains that the value of the dollar at that time was higher than it is now. The president also points to the corporate profits as having economic future as long as the dollar itself is unsound. Budgets have remained unbalanced almost continuously for many years now, and the cost of living has risen as the purchasing power of the dollar has gone down.

Tax Cut Now
The assertion is made by the president that a tax cut now is necessary to stimulate the economy. But the economic report in some sections gives the impression that the economy is really riding high and doesn't need a tax cut as a stimulus. These viewpoints are contradictory. The president, incidentally, threw a scare into business in his latest economic report to Congress when he emphasized his intention to take action against business men if they raise prices, but he did not offer any hint of governmental action with respect to wage demands that could substantially increase the cost of operating business in America.

The president stated that he would not hesitate to draw public attention "to major actions by either business or labor that flout the public interest in non-inflationary price and wage standards." But immediately thereafter, when he spoke of "action," he made only the following comment:
"And I shall translate into action the view:
"A. That antitrust policy must remain keenly alert to illegal price-fixing and other practices that impair competition."

"B. That we must resist new steps to legalize price-fixing where competition should prevail."

Wage Demands
Not a word is said about "action" to curb higher wage demands or concerted steps by unions that virtually fix figures by setting industry-wide wage rates. Another statement which the president made and which is causing many worries in the business world was the announcement of his decision to ask Congress to pass a law delegating to a group of private citizens the right to impose penalties for overtime. This would be accomplished by authorizing "higher overtime penalty rates on an industry-by-industry basis where tripartite industry committees determine that such rates could create more jobs without unduly raising costs." This is like the "NRA" scheme of new deal days which was declared unconstitutional in 1935. Such controls, moreover, could mean an increase in expenses not only in wages paid but for all the indirect benefits that are based upon the wage scales. It constitutes an interference with the free-enterprise system which is reminiscent of the wage-and-hour controls which have been imposed in wartime. (Copyright, 1964)

Smoking Addict Trying To Quit Becomes a Bore

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The cigarette addicts who used to get smoke in their eyes now simply get in our hair.
Since they swore off the filthy weed as a result of the present health scare, they have become matchless bores.

Mark Twain pointed out long ago there was no problem in quitting smoking. "I've done it a thousand times," he said.
But the current crop of swear-offers is making a big production out of it. If you look around your own social circle, you may find the following types to every tobacco field in the country.

The Crusader — Not content with giving up smoking himself, he wants everyone else to quit, too. "If I had my way," he mutters darkly, "I'd put a torch

Sneak Smoker
Secret Backslider — He denounces nicotine in public, but several times a day sneaks out to the office washroom and smokes three cigarettes like crazy. Then he chews a couple Rationed Abstinence — This cheapskate hasn't quit smoking cigarettes. He has just quit buying them. By the end of the day he has put away three packs—all borrowed. He borrows the matches, too.

Confessor — Like a reformed drunk, this fellow is compelled to brag to one and all about how awful he used to be before he saw the light and changed his ways. "I was a four pack a day man," he says, holding on to your lapel. "But I finally shook it. Haven't had one since 5:33 p.m. yesterday."

Switch Artist — He gave up cigarettes, and took up pipe smoking. "I don't seem to have the hang of it," he moans. "In the last week I've burned holes in two of my best suits."

Candy Fiend
Substituter — After cigarettes went out of his life, sweets came in. He went from one candy bar a day to six, then went on to malted milks. In a month he gained 15 pounds. He no longer worries about his lungs. "I'm so fat now I can hardly breathe," he complains. "Unless I get this weight off I'll probably get a heart attack. What's a good diet?"

Liar — At the office he thumps his chest and brags, "Don't miss 'em a bit. Never felt better in my life. Should have done it years ago." But at home he snaps at his wife and children, kicks his dog, and if you look closely at his fingernails you will see they are gnawed down to the first knuckle.

Those who give up cigarette smoking aren't the heroes. The real heroes are the rest of us—who have to listen to them.

for its classic design, the Lincoln Continental alone resists the annual confusion of model changes. It is, however, constantly being refined for your increased comfort and satisfaction. Most notably for 1964, Continental offers considerably more spacious interiors... with not becoming cumbersome. We would be pleased to point out its other refinements, and arrange a demonstration at your convenience.

Withholding Rate Can Control Budget Deficit

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The one statistic in President Johnson's budget which is of the most crucial bread-and-butter meaning to you and to our economy as a whole in 1964 is "14 per cent."

As of today, the individual tax withholding rate is 18 per cent. President Johnson is proposing that when the tax reduction bill finally becomes law this rate should be slashed at once to 14 per cent. In non-bafflegab language, here is what this means.

The original plan of the House taxwriters was to apply the huge individual tax reduction now moving through the Senate Finance Committee in two stages. Our withholding rate was to drop from 18 per cent to 15 per cent on Jan. 1, 1964, and to drop again from 15 to 14 per cent on Jan. 1, 1965.

But the tax reduction bill is still in Congress, and our withholding rate is still 18 per cent. If our withholding rate is cut to only 15 per cent on, say, Mar. 1 or April 1, this would mean that we would pay too much in taxes in 1964, and this would shrink the budget deficit for the fiscal year which ends July 1.

1964 Overpayments
Then, because of our overpayments in 1964, the Treasury would have to pay out billions of dollars in tax refunds to us next year and this would swell the budget deficit projected for fiscal year 1965.

This is certainly not good politics and economists can submit some persuasive arguments that it's not good economics either.

So President Johnson has made the decision to forget the two-stage tax cut for us, to skip the 15 per cent rate and go right to a 14 per cent withholding rate the day the tax bill goes into effect.

A 14 per cent rate as of, say, Mar. 1 or Apr. 1, would result in smaller tax collections by the Treasury during the balance of the current fiscal year and this would increase the 1964 budget deficit.

Then because there would be no need for huge tax refunds next year, this would shrink the budget deficit projected for fiscal 1965. Moreover, a withholding rate of 18 per cent in the first few months of calendar 1964 and a rate of 14 per cent in the later months would even out and come close to the original plan of the House.

This is certainly good politics and economists can submit some persuasive arguments that it's good economics too.

What would it mean to you in dollars and cents?

Say you're a married man with two children taking the standard deduction and earning $100-$105 a week.

The amount now being withheld from your paycheck each week is around $9.20. The amount that will be withheld after the tax cut becomes law will be $7.20—an increase in your take-home pay of $2 a week.

Say you're a married man with two kids taking the standard deduction and earning $150-$160 a week. The amount now being withheld from your paycheck each week is around $18.70. The amount that will be withheld after the tax cut will be $14.50—and increase in your take-home pay of $4.20 a week.

Your withholding today is $26.80. After the tax cut it will be down to $20.80—an increase in your take-home pay of $6 a week. These are not picayune totals and they'll really add up to important extras for you over the months. If you follow your usual spending-saving pattern, you'll spend around 93 cents of each dollar on goods and services, save around 7 cents. What would this 14 per cent mean to our economy as a whole? Just the 1 per cent difference between 15 and 14 per cent will put an average of $200 million more each month into our private economy. When the tax cut for individuals and corporations in 1964 goes through, the total amount of additional purchasing power pumped into our private economy will be an awesome $800 million per month.

There's simply no doubting the enormous stimulus this will give to our economy in 1964. With federal government spending not scheduled to level off until later this year, with individual and business spending rising too, and with our tax cut to come in one stage as soon as the bill becomes law—1964's upturn is in the bag. (Copyright, 1964)

Menasha High School, which carried its basketball revival spectacularly through a tempestuous first-round of the Mid-Eastern Conference race, launches second-half play Friday night in New London.

The Clem Massey-coached Bluejays, who upended Kimberly in a rousing climax to the first round, have become the team to beat as they continue pursuit of their initial conference title in 10 years.

In other Friday night pairings, it will be defending champion Kimberly at Two Rivers, Neshanic at Kaukauna and Shawano at Clintonville.

The M-E is one of the few conferences in the state with a pair of representatives in the "Big 16." Menasha is a cinch to climb above its No. 10 rating of a week ago in the new list which is due Thursday. Kimberly was toppled from the top position but is almost certain to remain in the "Big 16."

Best Record
So complete has been Menasha's cage comeback that the 1963-64 Jays could lose all their remaining M-E games and still have their best conference record in four seasons. On the basis of their seven straight league wins, eight successive victories, over-all, and a 9-1 record, however, no one expects the Bluejays to lose seven more games.

The best record compiled by any of the three previous Massey-directed Jay teams was 6-8 (in 1960-61 and 1962-63). The Bluejays haven't been out of the second division since 1957-58 when they finished fourth with an 8-6 record.

Spahn Eats Buffalo Steak

Makes LaCrosse Appearance; Aaron Visits Madison

LA CROSSE (AP) — Warren Spahn, the biggest Brave of them all, sat down to a buffalo steak dinner Tuesday night as members of Milwaukee's baseball team hit the trail to drum up business for the 1964 season.

While Spahn was having a buffalo supper with the Elks Club, other Braves, including Hank Aaron, were in Madison.

Spahn, the winningest left-handed pitcher in baseball with 350 victories, arrived early to stop at a sporting goods store to make a pitch for a sports equipment firm. There was an outpouring of youngsters and adults, and police were on the scene to keep traffic from jamming up.

Aaron, Milwaukee's slugging outfielder, was accompanied to Madison by club president John McHale and Bobby Bragan, the field manager.

"We can score because we have the hitting potential," said McHale.

"All we have to do is keep the other guy from getting more runs," added Bragan.

The Madison stop, at a meeting of the Pen and Mike Club, was the first in a series that will take the Braves throughout the state. Also on hand were Lee Maye, Dennis Menke and former Milwaukee shortstop Johnny Logan.

Closed Circuit TV of Title Bout Could Bring $5 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Sonny Liston may have another short night's work Feb. 25 with Cassius Clay at Miami Beach, but the heavyweight champion figures to make a bundle. Cassius won't have to depend on any Social Security, either, if he makes it.

Nate Halpern, the president of Theater Network Television, Inc., the company that will operate a closed circuit telecast of the title fight, said Tuesday he already had 1,000,000 seats available. It may hit 1,250,000 by fight time.

As Halpern figures the average price will be about $5, a sell-off in the theaters and arenas, in between 250 and 300 locations, would bring in something between $5 million and $6,250,000.

The record is the $4 million estimated for the first Liston-Cassius fight in 1962.

The actual gate at Miami Beach could reach $1,200,000 if they sell all the tickets starting at $250 a pop. Bill MacDonald, a Miami sportsman, has assured the fighters they will share in that amount.

On the basis of 42½ per cent for Liston and 22½ per cent for Clay, a sellout on all sides could bring the champ a little more than $1 million and Cassius close to $650,000. As Sonny also participates in Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., the promoters, his share will be much higher in the final tally.

Coaches of American Olympic Teams Are Highly Optimistic

Competition Opens Wednesday; Skiers Start Tapering Off

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—First it was no snow. Now it's go slow.

That's the situation at the site of the Olympic Games, where this warning has been issued to competitors beginning to reach their peak.

"Please take it easy. It is better to reach the end of the run in a slow time than to finish up in a hospital."

And as more and more of the world's top skiers, skaters and sledgers converge on Innsbruck, more and more hospital beds are being used, and more and more optimistic platitudes are coming from the assembled coaches — especially the Americans.

Said Bob Beattie, U.S. ski coach:

"We feel we are going into the Olympics in the best possible shape. Things are going very well."

Said Art Tople, U.S. ski jumping coach:

"We have men of international stature. We'll win some medals."

Said U.S. bobsledder Bob Hickey:

"We'll do better."

Hickey, of Keeseville, N.Y., piloted one of two American sleds Tuesday as practice began for the four-man championships at the Games, which open a week from today. His optimistic forecast was made after the first U.S. performances proved unimpressive.

Hickey piloted the No. 1 U.S. sled with mates Bill Dundon of Brownsville, N.Y., Reginald Benham of Lake Placid, N.Y., and brakeman Charles Pandolph of Saranac Lake, N.Y. The crew placed 15th in the trials with a clocking of 2 minutes, 14.44 seconds for two runs.

Better Performance

The U.S. No. 2 sled came through with a slightly better performance. Piloted by Lawrence McKillip of Saranac Lake, with brakeman James Lamy of Lake Placid and Floyd Baumgartner and Roger Neil, both of Saranac Lake, the bob finished 12th in 2:11.82.

Italy's eight-time world champion, Eugenio Monti, turned in the best runs, flashing down the approximately one-mile track at Mount Patscherkofel in 2:09.15 with the day's best run of 1:04.34 on his second descent.

MADONNA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy (AP)—The U.S. Olympic ski coach, Bob Beattie, was optimistic Tuesday about American chances in the Innsbruck Winter Games, although two girls on his squad are ailing.

"We feel we are going into the Olympics in the best possible shape we can be in," said Beattie, after putting his 14 skiers through a full day of training on the Five Lakes course.

The six American women arrived Monday night from Austria. The eight men arrived earlier.

Recovered From Flu
Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., top U.S. women's gold medalist prospect, was out on the slopes, recovered from a touch of flu that caused her to miss two slalom events in Austria.

"She's fine now," said Beattie. "Things went very well today."

Margo Wallers' trouble was more serious. The Salt Lake City girl hobbled around the hotel with a twisted ankle, injured during the training in Austria.

"At first we thought that it was more serious than it is," said Beattie.

"It's very difficult to tell right now whether she will be able to take part in the Games. We're hopeful she'll be in shape. Maybe in a few days she will be able to get skis on again."

LaCrosse '5' Wins, 96-79, Over OSC

LA CROSSE (AP)—Undefeated La Crosse State maintained its record as Wisconsin's only college basketball team with a perfect record by easily disposing of Oshkosh 96-79 in a State College Conference game Tuesday night.

La Crosse, winner of all 10 starts, was in front 48-30 as it rolled to its fourth conference victory. Larry Tranberg put in 12 of 14 free throw attempts as he led the La Crosse scoring with 28 points.

Michigan Whips Minnesota For 13th Win in 14 Starts

Russell, Buntin Lead 80-66
Big Ten Victory for Wolverines

BY TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin, the one-two punch for the Michigan Wolverines, are high up in college basketball's current All-America check list.

They demonstrated their ability again Tuesday night as the Wolverines whipped Minnesota 80-66 and took another step towards their first Big Ten championship in 16 years.

Russell threw in 25 points and Buntin added 23 as the Wolverines, second-ranked nationally in The Associated Press' poll, rolled to their fourth straight league triumph and 13th victory in 14 starts over-all.

Only Defeat

The way they are going the Wolverines may finish with a perfect 14-0 mark in league play in contrast to their first year in Big Ten basketball, back in 1918, when they didn't win a league game. In fact their only defeat this campaign came at the hands of unbeaten UCLA, top-ranked in The AP's poll.

Playing at home, Michigan was the only team in The AP's

In the few other major games, Purdue went two overtimes to defeat Notre Dame at Fort Wayne, 112-103. Georgia Tech defeated Georgia 71-55 in a non-SEC conference game at Atlanta, and Tennessee overwhelmed Ft. Knox 96-55 at Knoxville. On the Pacific Coast, Dayton lost to Seattle 80-63.

Kimberly Rallies To Tip Oshkosh in Wild Duel, 91-84

Indians Hit 28 Free Throws in 30 Tries; Zillges Tops Winners

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH—After trailing by as much as 10 points in the first half and by five points with four minutes to play, Kimberly rallied back to whip Oshkosh, 91-84, in a wild, free-scoring affair in the Oshkosh Gymnasium Tuesday night.

The Papermakers' Gordy Zillges and Jim Vanden Boogaard scored 12 straight points between them after Oshkosh led, 80-75, with 4:10 left in the game. Vanden Boogaard added another basket seconds later after Bruce Erickson had scored for Oshkosh.

Oshkosh was fantastic from the free throw line, making 28 of 30 attempts with senior Greek Wood hitting on 13 of 13. Kimberly had more opportunities, 34, but made only 21.

The game also turned out to be a contest between a pair of good sophomore guards. Erickson scored 16 for the Papermakers and kept Kimberly in the game in the first half.

Both teams were hampered by scoring aces getting into foul trouble. Lee Levknecht picked up his fourth foul with two minutes left in the first half after scoring six points. He returned to action late in the third period to spark Kimberly with nine more markers before fouling out with 6:43 left in the contest.

Wood, Oshkosh's top scorer this season, picked up his fifth personal with 4:50 left in the game after scoring 23 points.

In the fateful final four minutes of play, Vanden Boogaard started Kimberly on the road back with a tip-in basket. Then Zillges, the 6-7 center who did not get into the game until the second quarter but still led Kimberly scorers with 18 points, dunked in a fast break to cut Oshkosh's margin to 1, 80-79.

The big center put the Papermakers ahead 20 seconds later with a short jump shot and Vanden Boogaard then converted a pair of free throws and added a long jump shot from the corner.

Zillges completed the blitz with another fast-break basket and Oshkosh's 5-point lead had turned into a 7-point deficit in the space of 2½ minutes.

Erickson finally broke the ice for Oshkosh but Vanden Boogaard crushed final Indian hopes with another 2-pointer seconds later. Erickson scored a consolation basket with 12 seconds left and Dennis Kroner finished the scoring with two free throws for Kimberly as time ran out.

The first period was a war of attrition as the teams traded baskets at a furious pace. The score was knotted at 8, 10, 14, 17 and 21 before Myles Strasser and Erickson combined to give the Indians a 27-23 lead going into the second quarter.

Oshkosh quickly padded its margin to 10 points as Wood hit four straight free throws and Strasser added a basket. After a pair of Kimberly baskets Oshkosh again led by 10, 37-27, before the Papermakers rallied to go ahead by three at halftime.

Kimberly trailed by as much as six in the third quarter before taking a 1-point lead at the end of the period and then falling behind again in the fourth period.

The Papermakers shot 49 per cent from the field on 35 of 71, while Oshkosh shot an even 40 per cent on 28 of 70. In the first quarter, the Indians hit nine of 11 attempts from the floor.

Grandelius has been an assistant on the Philadelphia Eagles staff the past two seasons and before that was head coach at Colorado for three years. He also was an assistant at Michigan State after a brief pro playing career with the New York Giants.

The Lions also announced that Ray (Scooter) McLean, who has been the club's backfield coach, now will work exclusively with quarterbacks, that chief scout Bob Nussbaumer will be full-time end coach; and that Russ Thomas has been added to the front office staff as director of player personnel and recruiting.

TV Bids for NFL Games May Hit $15 Million

3 Networks Will Make Offers for 2-Year Contract

BY MIKE RATHET
NEW YORK (AP) — Quietly and efficiently three sealed envelopes will be placed Friday morning on the desk of Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner.

In each will be an unimposing slip of paper—each worth in the neighborhood of $15 million.

That's the area in which the three major networks are expected to present bids for television's hottest property — the NFL games—when a new two-year contract is put on the open market.

And, looking over everyone's shoulder will be the American Football League.

The entire bidding operation is a sheer matter of guesswork. Only one bid is made—and the highest wins. There is no second chance. Thus far, in bidding for football programs, the National Broadcasting Co. has had the best swami.

College Games Rights
NBC outbid the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. for the two-year rights to the college games, collecting that plum with a $13,044,000 bid — or $6,522,000 a year. CBS previously had the rights.

NBC also proved successful Monday in scoring a coup against ABC by taking the Orange Bowl away from that network. That provides NBC with the opportunity to telecast a unique tripleheader New Year's Day, with the Sugar, Rose and now the Orange Bowl games.

ABC still has a one-year option for the AFL rights—at a figure of about $2,350,000 for the single season under a contract signed in 1960. If ABC were to bid and win the NFL rights, the network likely would not exercise its option to retain the AFL program.

That would throw open the AFL bidding to an open market of NBC and CBS, and presumably bring a bigger price to the young pro league.

The three networks will be bidding on the rights to all regular season NFL games. The rights to the championship game, which NBC won with a $926,000 bid for 1963, will be up for separate bidding in March.

Sports Dinner

Extends Thanks
For Expressions Of Sympathy

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in one of his first public speaking appearances since the assassination of his brother, President Kennedy, thanked Americans and Canadians Tuesday night for their expressions of sympathy.

The younger Kennedy chose a sports dinner honoring members of the Hockey Hall of Fame and other sports luminaries to extend his thanks.

In an emotion choked voice, the Massachusetts Democrat said it was "the first time I have had an opportunity to talk to my friends in Boston and from across the border."

"I want to extend my heartfelt thanks for the support and prayers I've received for my brother."

"So Much Good"
Kennedy referred to the B'nai B'rith Sports Lodge, which gave its 10th annual awards dinner, as "an organization which does so much good for so many people."

Wally Moore Pounds 650 in 'Major' League

Deanna Bauman's 521 Series Leads Ten Pin Toilers

Royals, Celtics Post Victories

St. Louis Hawks Edge Boston in Last 14 Seconds

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Cincinnati Royals are fattening up in Column One, but Column Two apparently has them beaten.

The Royals tied the Eastern Division leading Boston Celtics with the most victories in the National Basketball Association by walloping the New York Knickerbockers 139-124 Tuesday night for their 32nd victory.

The 32 victories represent Column One in the NBA standings. Column Two, the loss column, shows the Royals with 17 losses — seven more than the Celtics, who were beaten by St. Louis 116-114 on Zelmo Beaty's jump shot with 14 seconds remaining.

The Royals still are 3½ games behind the Celtics. In other games, Terry Dischinger's interception preserved Baltimore's 124-121 victory over Philadelphia and San Francisco blew an early 20-point lead and then came back to defeat Detroit 100-88.

5-Man Attack The Royals brought their record to 7-1 against the Knicks behind a three-man attack led by Oscar Robertson, 31 points, Jack Twyman, 21, and Jerry Lucas, 20 and five stitches. The stitches were required to close a cut chin suffered in the first quarter.

The Celtics trailed 114-106 with 3:40 left but baskets by Sam Jones, John Havlicek, Bill Russell and foul shots by Robertson and K. C. Jones tied it. Beaty then ruined the comeback. Beaty wound up with 11 points. Bob Pettit led the Hawks with 29 while Sam Jones had 20 for Boston.

Philadelphia rallied from seven points down to within 122-121 with 23 seconds left, and had possession. But Dischinger stole a pass, and Walt Bellamy eventually sank two free throws with four seconds left to clinch it for Baltimore. Bellamy led the scorers with 37 points to 36 for Hal Greer of the 76ers.

First place will be up for grabs in the Fox Valley Freshman Basketball League Thursday afternoon when unbeaten Neenah and Roosevelt tangle at the Roosevelt gym.

In other league games, Madison will be at Menasha and rivals Kaukauna and Kimberly meet at Kimberly.

Roosevelt currently has a half-game lead over Neenah on the strength of five wins to four for the Rocket yearlings.

Kaukauna will be aiming to stay in the first division against Kimberly. A victory for the Ghosts would enable them to tie Wilson for third place.

Madison and Menasha will both be looking for their initial win of the campaign.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

'Best' Foot Forward

There is no set rule as to how you should place your feet at address. Comfort, and a readiness to move, are most important. However, most of the better bowlers, especially those who use the four-step delivery, place the left foot a fraction ahead of the right. This stance is at least worth a try.

More about stance in my pocket-sized aid, "Position, Stance and Approach." A copy's yours for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to me, Don Carter, care of this newspaper.

Valders Edges Denmark in 2 Overtimes

Second-Ranked Team in Little 16 Manages 68-66 Win

Valders, ranked second in the state's Little Sixteen listing of high school basketball teams, was carried into two overtimes Tuesday night before posting its 12th victory by beating unranked Denmark 68-66.

In the night's restricted action, the only upset was Argyle's 85-73 victory over Orfordville, listed 15th in the last Little Sixteen. The defeat, the second in nine starts, also knocked Orfordville out of a tie with Broadhead for the lead in the State Line League. Broadhead remained alone in first on the strength of its 81-67 victory over South Wayne.

All other rated teams seeing competition posted victories. They were Merrill, Kimberly, Ettrick, Independence, Gratot, Thorp and Green Lake.

Long Jump Shot Undefeated Valders, which rallied in the final 90 seconds last week for a victory over Plymouth, was able to extend its game with Denmark into overtime when Dennis Alfson launched a long jump shot that fell through the basket just before the end of regulation time to tie the score at 38-all.

Cliff Brennan was the difference for Valders in the two overtime periods getting six of his team's 10 points.

Merrill, ranked 11th in the Big Sixteen last week, bounced back from a loss to Rhinelander to defeat Tomahawk 78-55. Jim Langenkamp paced the Merrill attack with 32 points.

In games involving Little Sixteen teams, Thorp won its ninth without defeat by beating Stanley-Boyd 83-67. Thorp was rated sixth.

Undefeated Gratot, ranked eighth, won its ninth with a 71-61 victory over Benton and 10th ranked Gale Ettrick made its record 8-2 by beating Mondovi 79-71.

Independence ranked 14th, defeated Arcadia 61-37 for its eighth victory in nine games. Unbeaten Green Lake, ranked 16th, made it nine in a row with a 56-38 victory over Markesan.

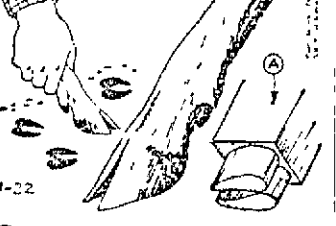

Finley Cancels Scheduled Speech

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, cancelled a scheduled speech here Tuesday night. A spokesman said he was too busy with other matters to appear here.

Finley is under orders from the American League to negotiate a contract with Kansas City for lease of Municipal Stadium by Feb. 1 or face possible league action. He was refused permission by the league last week to move his ball club from Kansas City to Louisville.

Bears Out-Gross Cubs for Third Straight Year

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears grossed $1.9 million at the gate in eight home football games last season, figures compiled by City Comptroller Alvin L. Weber showed Tuesday.

The receipts, which include the Dec. 29 National Football League championship victory over the New York Giants, top those of the Chicago Cubs for the third straight year. The Cubs play 81 games in Wrigley Field, where the Bears also play.

Weber's figures are derived from a collection of 3 per cent amusement tax for the city on the Bears' and Cubs' gate receipts. The Cubs grossed $1,613,333 at the gate in 1963.

title came in 1953-4 when the Jays shared the honors with Kimberly (at 12-2). The greatest Menasha fame was achieved in 1952-3 when the Jays tied Shawano for the M-E title (at 13-1) and went on to win the WIAA state championship.

Such standouts as Pat O'Keefe, Fred Schmidt, Bob Jedwabny and Massey made the Jays outstanding in the glory days of the early '50s. Such current-season luminaries as Mark Pawlowski, Dick Sorenson, Pat Kenney, Don Steffin and Rick Zimmerman have put Menasha back on the basketball map.

The Jays have demonstrated good scoring punch — an average of 64.6 points per conference win — but owe their lofty position even more to defensive excellence. They have permitted each M-E foe to score an average of only 48.6 points.

New London's leading scorer, John Moriarty, ranks sixth in the individual point race, with an average of 16.8. Menasha's leader, Pawlowski, ranks 10th, with a 14.3 average.

Kimberly hopes to regain the kind of scoring form that enabled it to beat Two Rivers, 85-69, the first time around. During the first five games, which the Papermakers won with an irresistible fast break attack, they averaged 83 points. Since the Shawano game (won by Kimberly, 44-43, in overtime), the M-E opposition has primarily played slow-down basketball against Kimberly—and the Pa-

Joe Joseph Tops Men in $100,000 All-Star Tourney

DALLAS (AP)—Joe Joseph, a wise-cracking pro from Lansing, Mich., won the qualifying trophy at the $100,000 All-Star bowling tournament Tuesday night with a 32-game total of 6915.

Joseph was lurking in sixth place after the first round of semifinals early Tuesday. He sprinted into the lead in the final round by firing a 214-214-226-264-214-192—1321 series.

Ted Hoffman, Jr., a burly young Philadelphia bowler who took the lead after the first semifinal block, dipped to third place after a modest 1240 series in the last qualifying round. Mike Chuchiolio of Patchogue, L.I., N.Y., moved up to second place on the final squad with 1301—6910.

Weber Fourth Dick Weber, the defending champion from St. Louis, finished fourth in qualifying to earn a shot at his third straight All-Star Championship.

Don Ellis of Houston moved up to fifth on the last squad. Bill Lillard, Dallas, the leader for the preliminary rounds, dropped to sixth place.

The lowest score qualifying was Tommy Tuttle's 6781. Tuttle, an engaging newcomer from Rural Hall, N.C., finished 16th.

Jeannette Bopp, 36-year-old Milwaukee housewife, won the women's qualifying trophy with a 24-game total of 4966. Mrs. Bopp's performance was second in all-star history only to the 5018 which won the qualifying trophy last year for Marion Ladewig, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Worst Storm Of Season Hits Los Angeles

Streets Flooded,
Traffic Stalled
By Heavy Rains

Wintery weather finally arrived in Southern California, previously drought-stricken and smugly basking in sunshine and near 70-degree temperatures.

Southern Californians were promised more scattered showers in the wake of Tuesday's gusty storm that flooded streets, stalled traffic and spilled mud slides into homes.

The storm was the worst of the season, dumping up to 3.28 inches of rain in the Los Angeles area. It was the first rain in nearly two months.

Streets Flooded
In the San Diego area, the storm caused flooding of streets, threatening seaside homes. Several residents were forced to evacuate their homes, but no injuries were reported.

Blizzards and snow slides were reported in the Pacific Northwest.

At Hoodoo Bowl, 90 miles east of Salem, Ore., 42 persons, snowbound in a ski lodge since Saturday, were returned home Tuesday. But the forecast called for continued snow and showers.

The storm brought down telephone lines, cutting off long-distance service to a half a dozen towns in eastern Oregon. Service was expected to be restored today.

More rain and snow was predicted for Northern California.

Memorial Medals
For Kennedy Are In Circulation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The President Kennedy Memorial Medal was issued from suburban Englewood today in cities throughout the United States.

The medals are produced by Presidential Art Medals, Inc. Max Humbert, president of the firm, said 15,000 serially numbered silver medals bearing a likeness of the late president have been produced.

Some 6,500 of these already are committed to regular customers, Humbert said. They sell for $15. Humbert said a limited issue of bronze medals, selling for $5, also went on sale.

The medals were designed, with Kennedy's approval, as fund-raising medals which were to have been used in his 1964 presidential campaign.

The only changes in the original design, Humbert said, is the addition of the symbolic eternal flame and the birth and death dates of the late president.

Relay 2 Satellite Launched Into Orbit By 3-Stage Rocket

Sent Into Space Friday

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new U.S. communications satellite, Relay 2, circled the earth today and may be joined Friday by another, the giant Echo 2 balloon, as scientists seek the best space system for worldwide radio, television and telephone coverage.

Relay 2 shot into orbit from Cape Kennedy Tuesday atop a three-stage Delta rocket.

On the satellite's first orbit, radio communications and a television test pattern were beamed to it from Mojave, Calif. The satellite immediately transmitted the signals back to Mojave and to a station at Nutley, N.J.

Worldwide Television

First intercontinental public television demonstration via Relay 2 had been scheduled today by the United States Information Agency. But it was called off because of what officials termed "logistical difficulties" in arranging a planned exchange of greetings between U.S. and Japanese government officials. President Johnson reportedly was to have appeared on the U.S. segment.

A USA spokesman said the program may be rescheduled at a later date. Meanwhile, continuing technical tests with the satellite were described as excellent.

First intercontinental television broadcasts via Relay 2 were scheduled today—an exchange of greetings between U.S. and Japanese government officials. President Johnson may speak on the U.S. segment. Echo 2, successor to the spectacular Echo 1 balloon which orbited in 1960, is scheduled for launching from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Friday. It is to expand to a diameter of 135 feet in space, and the United States and Russia have agreed to try to bounce signals off its aluminum skin. It would be their first joint experiment in talking via satellite.

Relay 2, an active communications satellite, built by RCA, and Echo 2, which has no electronic parts and serves only as a reflector of signals, are different approaches in a U.S. effort to determine the most effective type of satellite for a global space communications system.

Most experts believe an eventual network will consist of three to six satellites similar to the Syncom 2 payload launched last year. Syncom satellites orbit 22,300 miles high, where their relative speeds match that of the earth and they appear to hover over one spot.

The higher altitude poses many technical problems, but most engineers are confident they can be overcome.

Non-Resident Group Fights State Tax Laws

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The attorney for the Non-Resident Taxpayers Association of Illinois and Michigan says the 400-member group will challenge in a court suit Wisconsin's income tax laws covering non-residents.

Adeline J. Goe-Karis, an attorney from Zion, Ill., said she planned to enter the action today in a U.S. District Court suit.

The attorney said the suit would ask the court for a declaration of judgment and injunction and any other necessary relief for out of state residents working in Wisconsin and subject to state income tax laws. She said she was representing three American Motors Co. employees, Casey Gary, Zion, Ill.; Paul Woodman, also of Zion, and Allan Cowie, Winthrop Harbor, Ill.

The attorney claimed the tax law statute relating to the taxation of non-residents was written in such a manner "as to be misleading, vague and ambiguous, thus preventing due process of law."

She said the association would claim the statutes covering non-residents were unconstitutional under Wisconsin and United States law.

Hanson Bitter But Will Work For Reynolds

'Petty Political
Pandering' Hit by
State Chairman

MADISON (AP)—Democratic State Chairman Louis Hanson said today that "despite the petty political pandering of the ward heeler types that seem to have the Governor's ear," he believes party members should work for the reelection of John W. Reynolds.

In a bitterly phrased statement, Hanson said that "the impression has grown that people within the party who have supported Sen. Gaylord Nelson have no role, or if you please, no right to participate in the campaign to re-elect Sen. William Proxmire and Gov. Reynolds."

Stresses Need for Unity
However, Hanson added, "I, as a firm Nelson supporter, shall continue as state chairman and shall stump this state from north to south, east to west, to insure re-election...It is important that those of us labeled 'Nelsonites' know that we have a role to play."

"I deeply regret that our former state chairman and certain members of the Governor's staff carry their personal feelings about Sen. Nelson to the point that they would try to deny John Reynolds the support of this large body of dedicated Democrats."

The long feud between Nelson and former State Chairman Patrick J. Lucey broke into the open again Sunday when Lucey and Reynolds joined forces to win an interim appointment as Democratic National Committeeman for Lucey, over a candidate backed by Nelson. The post was vacated by U. S. District Judge David Rabinowitz.

In a heated statement after the Sunday meeting, Nelson said he was considering a head-on clash with Lucey for election to a full term as committeeman at the party's state convention this summer.

2 Fatalities on State Highways

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Racine County school boy became the state's 54th traffic victim of the year today. On this day in 1963 Wisconsin had recorded 34 highway deaths.

Kenneth Woeckner, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woeckner of rural Racine, was killed to hospital when he was hit by a car as he walked across Highway 45, north of the city, on his way to the Drought School.

Ray Gerfen, 70, was killed Tuesday night when struck by a car as he crossed a street a husband delivered the baby girl block from his Madison home.

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
GENEVA (AP)—Western and neutral delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference expressed confidence today that the Soviet Union is studying President Johnson's new arms control proposals with exceptional interest.

The President, in a message read at the conference's resumption Tuesday, proposed a verified freeze on the number and specifications of nuclear delivery systems—missiles, submarines, planes and the like—and a controlled cutoff in the production of nuclear materials for weapons.

Other Proposals
Some delegates believed two less spectacular proposals by Johnson had better chances of a favorable Soviet reaction. These called for agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations that don't have them and a system of observation posts to prevent accidental war or surprise attack.

These in general coincided with two points proposed by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin as part of a seven-point program of negotiations, but agreement was not complete.

Johnson, for example, worded his proposal to ban the transfer of nuclear weapons so that it would not apply to the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Alliance. Tsarapkin called for prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons to multilateral forces as well as to individual nations.

Preliminary Proposals
Johnson's proposals for the first time broke up the huge and complex package of general disarmament, long deadlocked in the two-year-old conference. A general disarmament treaty still is the ultimate goal, but the U.S. proposals are preliminary measures which might start the powers toward a comprehensive treaty.

The U.S. proposals also included a treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force and subversion, and a new effort to ban underground nuclear weapon tests, excluded from the limited test ban treaty.

There was no immediate indication of the Soviet response. The first indication may come in the next meeting of the conference, on Thursday.

'Too Early for Baby,' Infant Born in Taxi

DENVER (AP) — Mrs. Marshall Williams, 25, rose early Tuesday and went to the hospital because "I just knew my baby was coming."

The doctors told her it wasn't time yet. She returned home. Two hours later, a taxi was called for a second trip. Her car as he crossed a street a husband delivered the baby girl block from his Madison home.

Carriers Delay Cuts In Jobs of Firemen

Of Union Appeal to Courts

CLEVELAND (AP)—The national arbitration award eliminating firemen's jobs on diesel freight locomotives, will delay putting the award into effect pending a union appeal.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers said the railroad have agreed to delay application of the arbitration award, which was to have gone into effect Saturday.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the rail union, said the agreement, signed Tuesday, specifies that if the courts uphold the award it then will go into effect, remaining in effect for two years, as specified by the seven-member arbitration board Nov. 26.

The brotherhood and two other rail unions have filed legal actions. A lower court upheld the award, but the unions have taken steps to appeal that ruling.

A spokesman for the brotherhood said some 30,000 jobs theoretically are involved. However, since the bulk of the jobs are to be eliminated as they are vacated — by retirement, resignation, or death—the two-year span will not allow elimination of that many posts.

J. W. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, said in Washington Tuesday's agreement delays action on the firemen issue but noted that Jan. 25 will still be the cutoff date for determining who will be laid off. Those firemen with less than the required seniority as of Jan. 25 are the ones who will be affected, he said.

He also said the carriers will go ahead as scheduled with new rules governing the size of crews on Jan. 25.

Lucey Will Head Johnson Forces For State's Votes

MADISON (AP) — Former state Democratic chairman Patrick Lucey, recently named the state's Democratic national committeeman, was selected Tuesday to coordinate President Lyndon B. Johnson's Wisconsin campaign.

The appointment was made from Washington by Gov. John W. Reynolds, who said the assignment of Lucey to the post was asked by the Democratic National Committee.

The governor is chairman and Lucey secretary of the Wisconsin for Johnson Committee, described by Reynolds as the first voluntary organization formed to back a Johnson campaign for election as President.

Italian Parliament To Probe Dam Disaster

ROME (AP) — The Italian cabinet has retired the prefects of Belluno and Udine provinces, which were ravaged by the Vajont Dam disaster, and agreed to call a parliamentary inquiry.

Nearly 3,000 persons perished when a mountain slide caused the dam's reservoir to overflow, sending a wall of water crashing into the valley last Oct. 9.

4 Children Perish In Winnipeg Fire

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—Fire swept through the North Winnipeg home of Floyd Davis early today, killing four of his six small children. The other two children, their mother and an aunt were hospitalized.

Davis already was in the hospital, awaiting surgery.

Tanganyika's Leader Characterizes Mutiny As Small Incident

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — Tanganyika's President Julius Nyerere, seeking to calm a turbulent situation, says the mutiny by army units Monday was a small incident.

With relative quiet restored in Dar es Salaam, the capital, Nyerere appealed to the nation in a broadcast Tuesday night not to repeat the "great shame" of looting and wrecking that followed the revolt.

Nyerere asked the East African nation of 9 million not to panic in the aftermath of violence that killed at least 14 persons and injured scores.

The Tanganyika high commissioner's office in London said the country had returned to normal.

'Gifts Strongly Condemned'

Delaware Senator Assails Johnson For Accepting Stereo Console in '59

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson's acceptance of a free stereophonic console, disclosed in a Senate investigation of former Senate aide Robert G. Baker, drew fire today from Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

Williams said in a statement: "Under preceding administrations the acceptance of lavish entertainment and large gifts by officials of the U.S. government was strongly condemned, and it cannot be condoned now any more than it was then."

$200,000 Policy

Williams' statement referred to testimony by Don B. Reynolds, Washington and Silver Springs, Md., insurance man, that in 1959 at the suggestion of Baker he gave Johnson a stereo set costing more than $500. President Johnson then was the Senate Democratic leader.

The insurance man also testified he agreed to buy over $1,200 worth of advertising on a radio-television station in Austin, Tex., owned by the LBJ Co. which is paying the insurance premiums. Mrs. Johnson controlled the LBJ Co. at the time, but has put her stockholdings in trust since Johnson became President.

It was a demand by Williams, who had investigated Baker's outside business activities, which set off the Senate Rules Committee's investigation of the former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority and disclosure of the gift of the stereo.

Reynolds was questioned at closed sessions of the committee Jan. 9 and Jan. 17. A transcript of his testimony was made public Tuesday.

In his statement Williams harked back to investigations in prior administrations in which gifts of home freezers, fur coats and an oriental rug to government officials were criticized.

"I see no difference in the acceptance of an expensive stereo than in the acceptance of a mink or vicuna coat, a deep freeze or an oriental rug."

Says Return Expected
Williams said he believed anyone giving gifts to public officials expects something in return, and "any public official who accepts such gifts is not so naive as to be unable to recognize that point."

Reynolds testified that he regarded Baker, a former South Carolinian like himself, as someone who could provide him with access to important clients and had paid the former Senate aide about $15,000 for his help.

He said he had given Baker $4,000 for assisting him in obtaining a commission of about $10,000 in 1960 as broker for a performance bond required of Philadelphia contractor Matt McCloskey who built the District of Columbia Stadium.

Byrnes' Slate Does Not Bind Delegates

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Actual and potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination this year have been assured by the state Republican organization that the members of the "favorite son" slate to be organized here behind the name of Rep. John W. Byrnes will be absolutely uncommitted with respect to the genuine presidential contenders.

The pledge was given by Chairman Talbot Peterson of the Republican state committee in letters to prospective candidates outside Wisconsin explaining the purposes of the favorite son device.

Peterson explicitly denied that the delegate selection will be made to achieve a balance among delegates committed to candidates other than the favorite son—in refuting reports circulated by some hostile sources.

Apparent Result
One apparent result of such an arrangement will be to bar from selection for the Byrnes slate any of their prominent politicians of Wisconsin who had made previous expressions of support for such leading contenders as Sen. Goldwater and Gov. Rockefeller.

Under the law the delegate slate to be filed in the April election will be chosen by Rep. Byrnes. But Peterson's letter makes it evident that he has an arrangement with the party organization for the distribution of such places, and that they will be limited to candidates for delegate credentials who "will explicitly indicate, in advance, that their sole commitment is to the favorite son."

Peterson elaborated, in his letters to the so-called "national candidates":

Republican Victory
"Delegates will be responsible citizens of Wisconsin, respected in their communities for good judgment and dedicated to the philosophy of the Republican party and to Republican victory in 1964."

Although Peterson acknowledges that the goal of achieving an uncommitted delegation under the leadership of the veteran congressman will fail if any outside candidate decides to file in Wisconsin, it is now believed that all such other candidates will be dissuaded.

Thus there may be achieved the first "uninstructed" delegation, for all practical purposes, in the modern history of Wisconsin politics and Wisconsin participation in national presidential nominations.

Byrnes' Men
Technically such a delegation would be at the disposal of Byrnes, but only to a degree. The delegates would be legally bound to vote for him, among numbers of favorite sons and serious contenders at the San Francisco convention on the first ballot unless they were expressly released. But unless Byrnes picked up votes outside of Wisconsin to add to his Wisconsin vote pledges, he could not bind his delegates on subsequent ballots. Then he would become free agents, in the literal terms of the law which provided for their election, although it is likely that they would defer to Byrnes. But Peterson's letter makes it evident that he has an arrangement with the party organization for the distribution of such places, and that they will be limited to candidates for delegate credentials who "will explicitly indicate, in advance, that their sole commitment is to the favorite son."

Peterson elaborated, in his letters to the so-called "national candidates":

Ruby Defense Is Asking for Venue Change

BY MIKE COCHRAN

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's defense team will return to court Feb. 10 to argue that his murder trial should be transferred out of Dallas because of "general animosity against him."

Meanwhile, Ruby will undergo an intensive mental examination conducted by a three-man panel of psychiatrists agreed upon by Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown.

Bond Bid
Chief defense lawyer Melvin Belli said he was pleased over court developments Tuesday, which resulted in creation of the panel but failed to gain Ruby's freedom on bond.

Another result was delay of Ruby's murder trial on a charge of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, the pro-Marxist accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy.

Brown said if he rules against a change of venue Feb. 10, the trial of the 52-year-old strip joint operator will begin Feb. 17. Otherwise, he will choose a new site and date for the trial.

Trial Schedule
The trial had been scheduled to begin Feb. 3. The defense suddenly dropped its attempt to get Ruby freed on bond after the court agreed to appoint the team of psychiatrists.

Brown held a long afternoon conference with prosecution and defense lawyers and stated afterward that the psychiatrists' report must be evaluated in court, subject to argument from both sides.

"The jury will have to decide whether Ruby is sane or insane," Brown emphasized.

Defense counsel sought throughout the hearing to show that Ruby was a man with brain damage that would make him capable of killing without knowing it.

Ousted Sheboygan Chief Faces Quiz on Handling of Funds

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—Sheboygan County Dist. Atty. Arthur J. Olsen said Tuesday his office was investigating to determine whether there was a basis for criminal prosecution in the handling of various funds by ousted police chief Steen W. Heimke.

Olsen said he had held several meetings with police department officials to go over the financial procedures followed by Heimke, who was removed by the Fire and Police Commission for misuse of the money.

Patrolman Anton Simenz, president of the Policemen's Benevolent Association, said the group was checking legal steps necessary to secure return of association funds.

No Tent for Candidates

Laird Says GOP Platform Has Delineated Party Alternatives

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the 1964 Republican Platform Committee, said today the document finally adopted will set forth clearly the choice between the two major parties.

And, Laird said, there will be no attempt to arrive at a platform which would be a tent under which all of the potential candidates for the GOP presidential nomination could necessarily fit.

His 100-member committee will begin hearings July 6 in San Francisco, Laird said, a week before the party's nominating convention starts July 13.

He said it won't aim at including all the views of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, former vice president Richard M. Nixon or possibilities.

"If we try to write a document that expresses the viewpoints of all the major presidential possibilities as they presently express themselves, it would be meaningless," Laird said.

Checked Plans
Laird recently returned from a trip to the West Coast to check on arrangements for the committee hearings. He also conferred with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at Palm Springs, Calif.

A prime objective will be to hold the platform to about 3,000 words, Laird said. This would compare with the 20,000-word platform adopted by the Democrats in 1960 and the 15,000-word document approved by the Republicans the same year.

Equal Time Request Expected From Church

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP)—Church Unity Week, as celebrated in Sheboygan, included an unexpected development.

The sermon of the Rev. Dr. T. Parry Jones, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was delivered to the congregation at St. Peter Claver Roman Catholic Church last Sunday.

The Rev. Robert Hoeller said the public address system at St. Peter's picked up Dr. Jones' address.

"I'm delighted that I had an opportunity to preach to Father Hoeller's congregation," said Dr. Jones.

"I will be happy to give him equal time."

Some Pray, Some Silent

Thousands View Grave Of John F. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—They still come by the thousands to the peaceful slope overlooking the capital where John F. Kennedy lies buried.

Some pray. Some leave flowers. Some just stand silent with their thoughts. Some just come to be brushed by history, to say they've been there.

It was just two months ago today that he was assassinated, and three years and two days after he was inaugurated as the 35th and youngest president of the United States.

Snow Gone
A spring-like rain and a warning sun had melted away most of the mantle of snow that had covered Arlington National Cemetery and the open hillside where the eternal flame burns over his grave.

Fresh evergreen boughs covered the base of the flame. There, on the boughs, were the military caps of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and special forces, tossed there the day they buried the commander-in-chief.

Among the boughs, too, were a rolled-up piece of paper tied with white ribbon, a bouquet of pink carnations, a nosegay of white chrysanthemums tied with red ribbon that faded pink on the snow.

Tokens Saved
Each evening, after cemetery gates are closed, the soldiers take from the boughs all the remembrances that people bring. They are put in a box to be given to the Kennedy family.

Mostly the visitors just stand there and look at the grave with sorrow in their eyes.

The trees were bare, and the long white rows of gravestones cast long shadows.

The jet planes droned overhead, and across another hill taps sounded for another man who had fought for his country and died.

Wausau Wins Grand Award In Fire Prevention Contest

WAUSAU (AP)—Wausau, Wis., was named today by the National Fire Protection Association as the Grand Award winning U.S. city in the organization's annual fire prevention contest.

On the way to the top national citation, Wausau swept first place in all possible population, municipal and state divisions.

Hamilton, Ontario won the Grand Award for Canadian cities. More than 1,800 entrants in the 37th annual contest were judged on the basis of year-round effort to reduce fires and to educate the public in fire safety.

In the state division, Wausau ranked first, with West Milwaukee second and Racine third.

Stevens Point gained honorable mention.

In national competition, Wausau was first in the class for municipalities with populations ranging from 20,000 to 49,000, with Merced, Calif., second and Muskegon, Mich., third. West Milwaukee, the only other state city to gain a place in the national rankings, received honorable mention in the class for 5,000 to 19,000 population.

And in the United States municipal division, Wausau was first with Providence, R.I., second and Philadelphia third. West Milwaukee ranked 24th.

Winnebago Tables Joint Airport Study Plan Until March

Measure Proposing Combination With Outagamie Stalemated

OSHKOSH — Stalemate rear- ed its ugly head again at Tues- day afternoon's meeting of the Winnebago County Board.

Two more months must pass before Winnebago County's su- pervisors can decide if they want a joint airport study with Outagamie County.

In the interim, Outagamie County will continue with its air- port development in Town of Greenville.

Crucial Votes

Pressure would have been brought to bear in Outagamie County to hold up any further developments on its airport if Winnebago County would agree to study the feasibility of a joint airport, Winnebago Coun- ty Board members were told by

Daun Not in Chilton Race For Mayor

Lists Interference With Employment As Main Reason

CHILTON — Mayor Elmer J. Daun officially announced Tues- day he will not run for re-elec- tion.

Daun said the post interferred with his employment. He works at the Carnation Co. here.

He first took office in June of 1962 when he was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late Mayor Carl W. Hofmeister. In 1963 he was elected to fill out the same un- expired term.

Before his appointment as mayor, Daun served for 14 years as Second Ward alder- man.

To date there have been pa- pers filed by two candidates for the post, Harry Thompson, re- turning chief of police, and Wil- liam Mollen, a Chilton restau- rant owner and a member of the utilities commission.

Burglars Get $1,700 in Break-ins In New London and Clintonville

Waupaca, Outagamie County Authorities Investigate Series of Four Area Thefts

Authorities today were inves- tigating a string of New London- Clintonville area break-ins Mon- day night which netted burglars about $1,700 in cash and mer- chandise.

Three of the burglaries were reported in O'Neils Supply Co., Modern Linoleum and Carpet Shop and Brown's Beer and Li- quor Store, all in the same build- ing on U.S. 45 south of New London.

Another break-in was reported at Clintonville Cooperative.

Investigator Jack Frenzel of the Outagamie County Sheriff's department said the three stores near New London were entered through back windows.

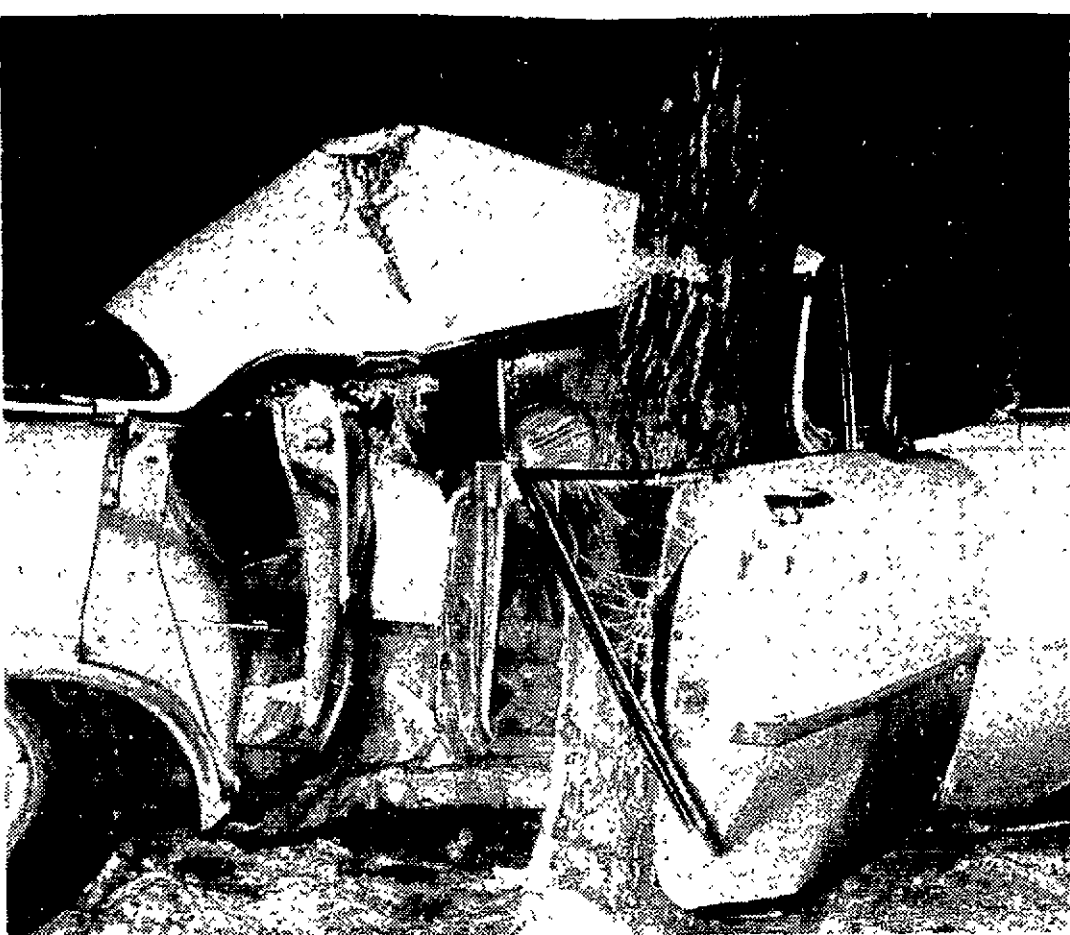

Reported Missing

Some $560 was reported miss- ing from O'Neil Supply, $177 from the floor covering store, and $150 and liquor valued at about $130 from the liquor store. About $300 worth of merchan- disc was taken from the co-op.

Clintonville police said entry was gained by breaking glass in a north door of the building, then reaching inside and turn- ing the knob. An attempt to open a walk-in safe was unsuc- cessful. A hole had been drilled through a cement block wall along one side of the safe, but not through the next reinforce- ment.

Goods Taken

Waupaca Council Orders Razing of Vacant Hotel

Building in Business District Riddled With Defects, Mayor Says

WAUPACA — The days of building, who is said to reside in Adams, knows how the coun- cil feels about the building. "We are not springing anything new," he added.

Board Up Windows

The only way we can keep children out of the hotel is by having all the doors and win- dows boarded up, he continued.

Mayor Matheson then read a letter addressed to Suman by Police Chief Fred Rasmussen, which stated the city police de- partment places all the respon- sibility on the owner.

The Rev. Michael Wasniew- ski, pastor of St. Mary Magda- lene Catholic Church, questioned Mayor Matheson and the coun- cil on the city's participation in the national day of mourning for the late President John F. Kennedy.

Father Wasniewski said some business places were closed for a short time and some were not closed at all on the day of President Kennedy's funeral. He wanted to know why it was not observed as a national obser- vance as proclaimed by Presi- dent Johnson.

Mayor Matheson said Waupa- ca observed the day in the same manner as 75 per cent of the communities in the state. He said the pattern was similar in Appleton, Fond du Lac and Osh- kosh.

New Public Works Director Is Russell Kalupa; Dan Albeydyl To Succeed Harry Thompson

CHILTON — The city council Tuesday night promoted a pa- troldman to the rank of police chief and named a Minnesota engineer to be the city's first public works director.

Patrolman Dan Albeydyl was appointed to succeed Police Chief Harry Thompson who will retire Jan. 31. Russell F. Ka- lupa, 33, St. Louis Park, Minn., was selected after the list of ap- plicants for the public works post had been narrowed to five.

Albeydyl was hired as a pa- troldman in July, 1961, by the late Mayor Carl Hofmeister. Be- fore that he had served on the Milwaukee police force.

A previous appointment of Mayor Elmer Daun, that of Cal- umet County Sheriff C. J. Kos- mosky, was defeated by the council in a secret ballot vote of 5-3.

Named Committee

Daun then appointed a three- man committee to assist him in reviewing the applicants to choose another. The committee consisted of Aids. George Wink- ler, Emil Schaff and Raymond Jensen. The committee recom- mended Albeydyl.

Kosmosky was not eligible for reconsideration after the rejec- tion. State law requires that af- ter an appointment has been de- feated the applicant must wait one year before reapplying.

Originally from Princeton, Wis., Kalupa has a long record in the engineering field starting with the Army in 1948. While in service he served as an engi- neer and in engineering survey until 1952.

Since that time he has work- ed in the Minnesota area lay- ing out suburban community de- velopments.

Calumet Sheriff May Lose Police Supervision

Traffic Captain to Be Appointed if Kosmosky Leaves

CHILTON — The Calumet County traffic patrol may be placed under the supervision of traffic police captain if there are future changes in the sher- iff's office.

At the county board's January session a resolution calling for the appointment of a police cap- tain and separation of the de- partment from the sheriff's of- fice was discussed. Action on the proposal was delayed but it is expected to be considered again at the March session.

While considering the plan the supervisors stated a director would not be appointed while C. J. Kosmosky is Calumet County sheriff. They pointed out that the present situation is working out "quite well."

Sheriff's Committee

The five traffic patrolmen sign contracts with the sheriff's committee and use the sheriff's office as a base of operations. The sheriff, in addition to his duties, takes the responsibility of assigning the officers to their various patrols.

The sheriff's committee, com- prised of Sups. Earl Davis, New Holstein; Herman Greve, Hil- bert, and Alfred J. Bruich, Brill- ion, has complete control over the department.

Victor Juno, speaking for the traffic police, stated the de- partment wanted to be protected against the "unknown."

Wants Director

In explaining the statem en t, Juno said the traffic department wanted its own director to guard against conflicts of policy with changes in sheriffs.

The supervisors, during the discussion, stated the reason for the holdover was to delineate between the sheriff's and cap- tain's duties.

Many surrounding countie s have a traffic captain who ne- gotiates for patrolmen in case of disagreement. A director will not be appointed at this time but in the event of the election or appointment of a new sher- iff, a captain would also be chos- en.

The director or captain would work in close conjunction with the sheriff in discharging the duties of county law enforce- ment.

Fire Zone Size Boost Suggested at Waupaca

Proposal Would Double Area in Places Where Major Fire Potential Problem

WAUPACA—The city council Tuesday night heard a recommendation of the police and fire commission to double the size of fire zones in areas where there is a possibility of a major fire. The area proposed is located to the north and east of the Waupaca business district, including the areas where the oil and gasoline bulk tanks are located, lumber yards, cooperative and feed mills.

Fire Chief James (Bob) Hansen told the council the only difference will be the need for constructing buildings of fire-proof materials and no uncontrolled burning.

Hansen said insurance rates will remain the same. If an addition of more than 25,000 cubic feet is planned, it will have to be made of two-hour fire resistant materials.

Five Changes

Tom Godfrey, a member of the commission, also advised the council the commission has about five changes in the police department ordinance which will give the police department "much better law enforcement."

He said the commission also is considering the possibility of replacing a clerk at the police station with another patrolman.

"We can do this within our budget and get more use of the money," he told the council.

The council approved the commission's recommendation to buy a new squad car from Knerr Pontiac for $750 plus the trade-in. It was the lowest of three bids.

The council approved the final plat of Old Taylor Lake subdivision. The subdivision, west of Waupaca, has 51 lots. It previously was approved by the state and accepted by the Town of Farmington Board.

Atty. Edward Hart represented the owners of the plat, Campfire Land Co., Inc., Appleton.

NEW LONDON — Bids for a new dump truck for the street department were reviewed by the city council and turned over to the board of public works for a recommendation.

It is expected that the council will take action on the board's recommendation at its next meeting, Feb. 5.

A resolution abolishing self-insured workmen's compensation by the city with the exception of the utility department was adopted by the council. The ordinance states that the city will now have workmen's compensation insurance with a commercial insurance carrier with the exception of utility department employees, which will continue to operate on a self-insurance basis.

Waushara Joins Wolf Planning Unit

County Board Okays Affiliation, Votes Membership Funds

The Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission has a new member county, bringing the total in the commission to eight.

The Waushara County Board, by a 22-4 vote, approved a petition and appropriated funds for full membership in the commission at a meeting Tuesday.

The resolution supporting the action was signed by all members of the county's agriculture and conservation committee.

Gordon A. Bubolz, Appleton, Chairman of the planning commission, outlined the organization's program and purposes.

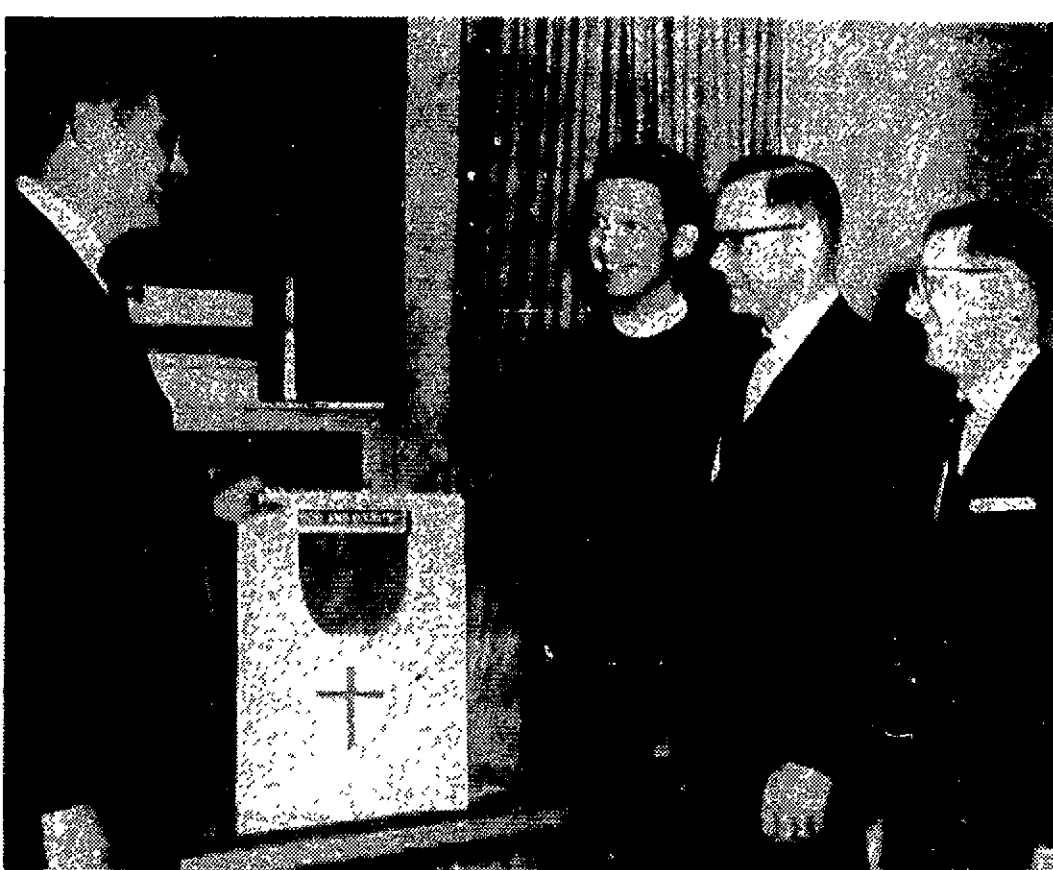

He said "increasing demands on our natural resources, and the necessity for protecting the diminishing sources of water supply and the scenic beauties of nature and growing recreational demands, makes a regional approach feasible for our maximum future well-being."

Develop Region

"Since the major part of Waushara County is in the Wolf basin, this county has both a definite interest in the development of the region, and it will be able to make a significant contribution by its support and cooperation."

The commission's planning director, R. T. Dittmer, explained procedures and programs of the commission and work which will be done under these programs.

He said new base maps and surveys of land use, soils, forestry, transportation, water

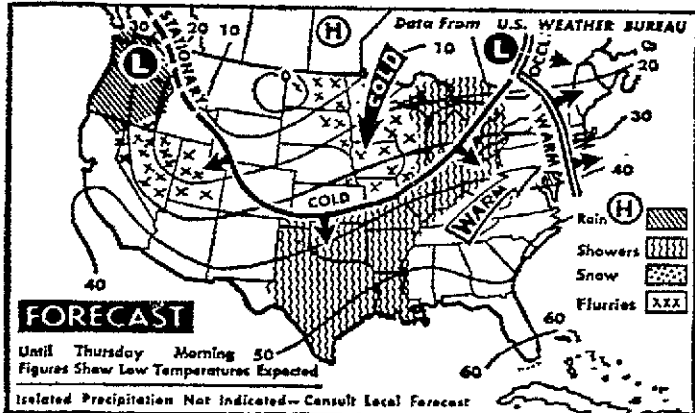

A Workshop of the Newly Organized Protestant relations committee of the Valley Council Boy Scouts was held at the First Methodist Church, Clintonville. The committee was organized to help interpret scouting to the Protestant churches in the council area. From left are Charles Wolfelin, Clintonville, Boy Scout executive; the Rev. Allen Wahl, Neenah, associate pastor of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, vice chairman of the committee; the Rev. Bernard A. wildlife and recreational needs are being prepared for the region, taking into consideration special features of each county and the development possibilities.

By using a "planometric map," Dittmer explained about one-half of Waushara County is in the Wolf River watershed.

Waushara joins Outagamie, Winnebago, Menominee, Forest, Langlade, Shawano and Waupaca counties, present members of the commission.

Rain and Showers will fall Wednesday night over the northwest Pacific coast with snow and snow flurries over the central plateau, the northern plains and the eastern part of the central plains. Showers are expected over the Great Lakes, the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and southern plains. It will be colder over the northwest and New England and warmer over the central and southern Atlantic states, the Ohio, Tennessee and lower Mississippi valleys. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Smoking Addict Trying To Quit Becomes a Bore

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The cigarette addicts who used to get smoke in our eyes now simply get in our hair.
Since they swore off the filthy weed as a result of the present health scare, they have become matchless bores.

Mark Twain pointed out long ago there was no problem in quitting smoking. "I've done it a thousand times," he said.
But the current crop of swear-offers is making a big production out of it. If you look around your own social circle, you may find the following types to every tobacco field in the country.

The Crusader — Not content with giving up smoking himself, he wants everyone else to quit, too. "If I had my way," he mutters darkly, "I'd put a torch

Sneak Smoker
Secret Backslider — He denounces nicotine in public, but several times a day sneaks out to the office washroom and smokes three cigarettes like he saw the light and changed his ways. "I was a four pack a

Rationed Abstainer — This cheap skate hasn't quit smoking cigarettes. He has just quit buying them. By the end of the day he has put away three packs—all borrowed. He borrows the matches, too.

Confessor — Like a reformed drunk, this fellow is compelled to brag to one and all about how awful he used to be before he saw the light and changed his ways. "I was a four pack a

Switch Artist — He gave up cigarettes, and took up pipe smoking. "I don't seem to have the hang of it," he moans. "In the last week I've burned holes in two of my best suits."

Candy Fiend
Substituter — After cigarettes went out of his life, sweets came in. He went from one day man," he says, holding on to your lapel. "But I finally shook it. Haven't had one since 5:33 p.m. yesterday."

better in my life. Should have done it years ago." But at home he snaps at his wife and children, kicks his dog, and if you look closely at his fingernails you will see they are gnawed down to the first knuckle.

Those who give up cigarette smoking aren't the heroes. The real heroes are the rest of us—miss 'em a bit. Never felt who have to listen to them.

candy bar a day to six, then went on to malted milks. In a month he gained 15 pounds. He no longer worries about his lungs. "I'm so fat now I can hardly breathe," he complains. "Unless I get this weight off I'll probably get a heart attack. What's a good diet?"

Liar—at the office he thumps his chest and brags. "Don't miss 'em a bit. Never felt who have to listen to them."

Glenn Orbits Into Politics

The entry of Astronaut John Glenn into the race for United States senator on the Democratic ticket in Ohio injects a glamorous note into the campaign in that pivotal state which will be widely watched nationally.

And his candidacy cannot be lightly taken after his victory in less than a week after his announcement over the incumbent Senator Stephen M. Young in the state Democratic convention. The convention voted 343 to 329 against endorsing any candidates in this year's election. Only the night before the meeting the state chairman had told Young he could have the endorsement if he wanted it. And Young was the keynote speaker at the convention and asked for the endorsement.

Now Glenn and Young will face each other in the Democratic primary at the same time that there is a lively contest going on in the Republican primary between Rep. Robert Taft Jr. and Secretary of State Ted Brown.

Despite the fact that there have been rumors for some time that Glenn was interested in getting into politics, he made it appear in his announcement last week that it was a sudden decision. This didn't make Young feel any better either since up to that time he was the only candidate in the field and had been assured of the total support of the state party organization.

But the Democrats haven't been doing too well in Ohio in the last two elections. Richard Nixon piled up a large plurality over the late President Kennedy in the state in 1960, and the Republicans continued their domination in the 1962 elections.

A majority of the delegates to the convention obviously felt that Glenn might be the man to put some spark back into the Ohio Democratic party. We are not so certain that Glenn's training and experience as a Marine officer and astronaut are valid qualifications for a United States senator. Normally some public service at a lesser level is considered essential as a preparation for senatorial aspirations. But in today's campaigning via television his American boy appearance, his world wide fame and his ready wit have obvious campaign advantages over an opponent who is 74 years old.

Is Drug Addiction Growing?

United States Narcotics Department officials unhappily revealed that they were conducting an investigation over the use and sale of narcotics at the University of Wisconsin when the accidental death of a young man prematurely revealed some sort of a narcotics ring in operation. The investigation indicates that there is concern that the use of narcotics is becoming more widespread especially among students. It is well that there are extensive efforts under way both to curb and to cure.

The President's Advisory Commission on Narcotics and Drug Abuse is expected to recommend soon that the Narcotics Bureau be split up and taken out from the authority of the Treasury Department where the emphasis has been upon the detection and arrest of pushers and other violators. One part of the Bureau would go to the Justice Department where it would continue to work against the illegal sale, importation, delivery and use of narcotics. The other department, under Health, Education and Welfare auspices, would concentrate upon the prevention of addiction through education and efforts to cure and rehabilitate addicts.

Most authorities concur that the narcotics addict takes what appears to be an easy way out of his troubles when he turns to drugs. Thus although he may stay off them for weeks while in a hospital, as soon as he returns to his old neighborhood, he is likely to pick up his old habits. Several "halfway houses" are now in the experimental stage to try to give addicts who are off the drugs through treatment a longer time for convalescence.

Dayton House has been set up in Staten Island over the strenuous objections of nearby residents who feared the neighborhood would be filled with pushers or addicts climbing the walls. The group of fifteen is under the supervision of the state supreme court and so far is confined to the grounds of the estate. They receive psychotherapy and so far none has relapsed. This is in contrast to another control group of ten who were permitted to return to their own homes. Three of them are already back on drugs.

However, the real test of Dayton House will come when the residents are allowed to go out by day to work and return only at night.

Another such halfway house is in New York's West Side Rehabilitation Center. Patients who received treatment at a hospital are admitted for vocational training and group therapy but they live away from the center in nearby rooms. Gradually they are given work and more responsibility. But the program is too new yet to determine its success.

In the next year authorities hope to set up several outpatient clinics on an experimental basis similar to one operating in Toronto. The outpatient clinics would involve the most controversial subject concerning addicts—the administering of the drugs free or at a nominal cost.

In Toronto six patients have been on such a program. They receive psychotherapy and a "fix" every day at the clinic but otherwise appear to lead almost normal lives. After two months one addict is off the drugs after gradually reduced doses. Two are receiving the reduced amounts at their own requests. Two others are demanding more every day. And one switched to barbiturates and wound up in a mental hospital.

Patently the outpatient clinic does not yet seem to be a tremendous success. But if one-half or even one-quarter of narcotics addicts can be actually cured through the gradual reduction of the drugs, the clinics could be said to be successful. Estimates are now that 90 per cent of those who want to be cured go back to drugs. Some treatment centers get the same patients back as much as twenty times. And there are no reliable figures on how many addicts there are who never make the attempt to kick the habit.

There is another side to the outpatient clinic idea that is widely argued on a moral basis. The picture of the addict as a dope fiend with rapine and murder foremost on his mind has been generally dissipated. But because of the high cost of the illegal drugs, many addicts do turn to crime to finance their habit. Narcotics experts estimate that the crime bill for narcotics in the United States amounts to at least $1 billion a year. It would seem more reasonable to permit addicts to get drugs at cost although the problem is debatable from both a medical and moral point of view.

So far authorities have not had much success in determining who is likely to be an addict and how to keep him from it in the first place. "The addict must have an immature mind to begin with," says one doctor. "The basic factor in addiction seems to be rejection at home, at school and in the community." But of course many youngsters so rejected do not turn to narcotics. This is a field that needs wide attention.

40 Years After Death, Lenin Is Still Untarnished Red Hero

BY MAX FREEDMAN

It is 40 years since the death of Lenin. In that time many changes have swept across Russia, and many men have been destroyed by the revolution which they organized. But Lenin has been shaken by no storm, tarnished by no slander, broken by no abuse. His fame stands unique, removed from the rumors of politics and remote from the ambitions of statecraft. It is immortal and invulnerable.

When the Tzarist tyranny fell, devoured, like Herod, by worms, there was a vacant throne, filled for a time by men who chattered into the abyss and recoiled in panic from the challenge of great events. Lenin was cast in a different mold. The misfortunes of Russia became his opportunities, and he seized power with a ruthless grip. If Trotsky was the Carnot of the Russian revolution, the organizer of victory, Lenin was its Robespierre, the philosopher of victory and the implacable hammer of all enemies. It is the enduring misery of Russia that it never had a Danton to give majesty to its victory and moral purpose to its revolution.

TOUCHED BY SYMPATHY

Yet in some strange way Lenin is not altogether a figure of iron. He is touched and ennobled by human sympathy. He had tears for the poor as well as hatred for the rich. In the anarchy and brutality which shook Russia after the Soviet revolution, he found time to worry over the fate of helpless peasants and workers. He sometimes worked long into the night, trying to deal with his personal wreckage that had accidentally drifted to his attention. Not even the pleas of his colleagues nor the commands of his doctors could divert Lenin from these self-imposed labors. It is not a mystery or an accident that Lenin alone, among the heroes of the revolution, has been enshrined in the hearts of the Russian people.

Washington High School, New London, were Bill Krohn, Muriel Larsen, Jukene Arndt, Garry Barrington, Jim Werner, Jim Mullarkey, Jim Busch, Bob Wilson, Linda Thomas, Judy Longrie, Linda Nacheller, Joanne Burton, Janice McDermott and Ann Frye.

Leonard J. Bubolz, Appleton, was named chairman of the Easter Seal campaign in the area. As chairman, Bubolz was to direct the 21st annual appeal for funds to support direct help for crippled children and adults in the Outagamie County area.

But he never had any message for a free people. During his years of exile in London, where his two chief loyalties were the reading room in the British Museum and Karl Marx's grave at Highgate, he used to walk about the streets counting the frayed trousers, confident that human misery would produce a class war. How could Lenin ever hope to understand a country like England? The first Russian parliament met in 1905; the British parliament had its rough beginnings in 1265. More than six centuries of experience separated England and Russia in the difficult arts of self-government. At the height of the British general strike in 1926, the largest stadium in London was filled with a crowd of happy citizens come to see a soccer match between two teams drawn from the ranks of the strikers and the police. England was an enigma to Lenin because it mocked the dogmas of Marx. As for America, he tried to atone for the shallowness of his judgment by the violence of his invective.

In Lenin's hands the doctrines of Communism became thunderbolts to hurl at the capitalist world and formulas for the seizure of power in weak states. His evil success can be measured in the countries now caught in the bondage of Communism.

WAR BROUGHT REVOLT

Without the terrible suffering imposed on Russia in the first World War, there never would have been a Communist revolution. Lenin himself was surprised by the sudden emergence of revolutionary conditions. But he revealed his astonishing genius by the speed and wisdom with which he bent this torrent of ruthless events to his own purposes. It is as a strategist of revolutionary action, rather than as an analyst of social and economic conditions, that Lenin towers into his enduring greatness as a maker of history.

Where smaller communists were content to echo the dogmas of Marx and to be the slaves of his doctrines, Lenin invented flexible formulas able to adjust themselves to conditions never dreamed of when the Marxist creed first was formulated. There has been nothing like it in the history of thought. It is as if Machiavelli were to interpret St. Paul. When we are confused and challenged by the twistings and turnings of Soviet policy, we are merely dealing with Lenin's disciples who are trying to apply the dexterous duplicities of their master.

The first victims of the Communist revolution were the Russian people themselves. For valiant generations they had battled in vain for reform and freedom. It is a tragedy almost without parallel that this heroic struggle should have ended in the somber tyranny of Communist power. Measured by achievements, Lenin is one of the supreme men in history. Measured by ideals, he is a primitive brute compared with Jefferson and Lincoln. We can greet his memory, embattled yet heroic, on this anniversary day but we shall look to more congenial names for inspiration and guidance.

Attacking Working Wives No Unemployment Solution

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In an article "Should Wives Work Outside the Home?" in Family Weekly, Jan. 12, John R. Willett suggests that many "unnecessarily" working wives may be depriving family men of jobs. He cites one example, an attractive blond who sells a travel service. I wonder how many men would buy the same travel service if it were sold by a former West Virginia coal-miner or Mississippi share-cropper.

Mr. Willett seems to overlook the fact that two-thirds of the people unemployed today in the U.S. have less than a high school education and many are unskilled laborers. How many of them could replace the "educated middle class" working wives Mr. Willett talks about? Even among the highly educated unemployed (relatively few in number and percentages), how many men are qualified for such typical women's jobs as nurse, librarian, secretary, social worker, and teacher?

Mr. Willett argues that many women are misleading themselves about their reasons for working, that in reality many add little extra to the family income. Too much of their earnings go for extra clothes, transportation, personal grooming, child care, household help, and laundry service. He is probably quite right about this; but unless he can prove that these women are keeping jobs away from unemployed men, this would seem to be primarily a concern of the individual family.

If a million or so working wives spend more money on all the things mentioned and also enable their families to spend more on automobiles, TV sets, education, housing, furniture, and travel, doesn't all this create more jobs? Isn't this one way to increase consumption so there will be more employment opportunities for men?

Unemployment is certainly a very serious problem; but it isn't going to be solved this way. We need such things as more and better education for our young people, retraining and relocation of unemployed workers now living in distressed areas, and a tax cut to stimulate our economy and increase our effective buying power.

Wisconsin Report

Accidentally or Not, State Republican Ticket Has Unusual Balance

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Somebody has described the list of statewide candidates of the Republican Party of Wisconsin as now completed a "dream ticket." The description may be pretty strong, but it is worth noting that the ticket exhibits, perhaps accidentally, more of what the politicians of earlier times used to call "balance" than most of those which have been offered in recent years.

In this era of the mechanical brain, if the Republican party management had fed into a computer the ingredients thought to be required for a ticket that would appeal to the ethnic, geographical and other elements of the Wisconsin population, it would probably come up with something like the Knowles, Renk, Olson, Thompson, Zimmerman and Smith ticket that now seems likely to be nominated in the primary election next September.

In Warren Knowles the ticket has one of the best known of the public men of Wisconsin and one who represents the sensitive northland. In Wilbur Renk it will offer a man whose first identity is agricultural, in this state where farmers hold the balance of power between the parties, and moreover a man whose public image is such that he can threaten the Democratic allegiance of populous and usually Democratic Dane County.

In Olson and Thompson the party has men who showed their vote-getting capacities in the hard year of 1962, probably because they represent in a visible way on the ballot the Scandinavian ethnic considerations that remain valuable in some of the western districts of the state that have otherwise shown a tendency in late years to break away to the Democrats.

In Secretary of State Zimmerman the party has a man whose ability to attract votes regardless of party preference has become legendary during his own brief career, and who is useful and valuable on that account if for no other. Besides, like State Treasurer

Dena Smith, he has deep roots in Milwaukee where the Republicans have had their difficulties in maintaining a working party nucleus.

Mrs. Smith, of course, is also a living symbol of something that parties have often talked about but have rarely proved — their devotion to the ideal of equality of the sexes. She is the only woman ever elected to state-wide office in the state, and as such is something of a publicity weapon for the uncommitted who in these times of close competition between the allied parties obviously control the outcome of most elections.

OTHER FACTORS

While geographical ticket distribution no longer has the emphasis in party planning that it had a couple of decades ago, the 1960 presidential election and its connotations have put more emphasis upon the religious distribution of party representatives. Here it is worth noting that the usual Protestant definition of the Republican party had gradually been modified. Renk, for example, who will be in the public eye more prominently than any other candidate except Knowles, is a Catholic.

It may be observed parenthetically that the changing religious identities of the tickets of the parties during the last decade and a half is another proof of the political realignment. There was a time when the Democratic party of the state was a Catholic Celtic organization, for all practical purposes. Today it tends to run a majority of non-Catholics on its tickets. Whether the change of emphasis has had any bearing on the changing fortunes of the party is anybody's guess. But it is a pertinent footnote to current history, nevertheless.

There is no intention here to suggest that Wisconsin parties are so operated that anybody controls these things, or that there is any conscious effort to balance geography, national origin, or church affiliation, for the tickets as a whole. There is some occasional effort in that direction, as in the search for promising Polish names in urban Democratic politics. Generally, these developments have come naturally, and perhaps provide the best proof of the representative character of both parties.

Can't Code of the Sea Also be Used on Land?

BY SIDNEY J. HARRIS

"Short of a miracle," said a friend of mine who is an ardent sailor, "there's only one way to avoid the next, and last, war — and that's to put everybody in boats."

"What's the joke?" I asked, a little impatiently. "G a s about the next war don't exactly leave me heaving with laughter."

"No joke at all," he answered. "I'm perfectly serious. People on water are entirely different from people on land. The noblest code ever devised by man is the code of the sea."

"How do you mean?" I prompted — although a sailing-man needs no prompting to talk about his love.

"A few weeks ago," he explained, "when that Greek liner blew up near the Canaries, every ship in the area went to its help — an Argentine freighter, a British steamship, and whatever craft of other nationalities that happened to be in rescue distance."

Nobody cared which flag the Greek liner was flying, or that the passenger and crew lists were composed of English, Irish, Greek, German, and Italian. Nobody needed a passport to get helped — all they needed was to be in trouble."

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

One thing about the U.S.A.: You know it's a big and powerful union because the dues are so high.

First State Department expert: "What was your reaction to the overthrow of the Zanzibar government?" Second expert: "Complete surprise. I didn't know Zanzibar had a government."

White House council Ted Sorensen quits to write a book. Probable title: "I Was a Teen-age Ghost-writer."

Proposals Renewed for Disarmament

Proposals Not New,
But Hope for Change
In Russian Attitude

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The endless circle spins again. President Johnson has made disarmament proposals based on the hope the Soviet Union has changed its mind. But there's no reason to believe it has.

Johnson suggested Tuesday — in a message to the 18-nation disarmament conference which opened in Geneva — several moves for controlling nuclear weapons and cutting down their production.

There would have to be an inspection system to prevent cheating. This is what the United States has always insisted upon, before there could be an agreement. But the Soviet Union has always opposed an inspection system.

New Proposals

Last week Johnson said "we shall make new proposals" to the conference. Later he was quoted in a White House statement as saying "as the United States enters these negotiations . . . we harbor no illusions of easy success."

His proposals Tuesday were not basically new. Even his opening sentence had a familiar sound, the kind of thing the United States and the Soviet Union have been saying for years:

"There is only one item on the agenda of this conference — it is the leading item on the agenda — and that one item is peace."

The Soviet Union said several years ago in a memorandum on disarmament: "There is no task more vital and urgent today than the task of preserving peace."

Caution Urged

The White House had hardly announced Johnson's proposals before senators were urging caution, warning there could be no agreement without inspection.

Any hope of a Soviet switch on inspection seems based on this: Maybe they think it's time for a second look because (1) their economy is in a downturn and less money spent on armaments would help and (2) their split with Red China may make them want better relations with the West.

This past year there have been some steps towards better relations, as Johnson mentioned: an agreement banning nuclear tests except underground; a direct line between Moscow and Washington to be used in a crisis to prevent misunderstandings; and a unanimous United Nations vote . . . last October against ceasing nuclear arms race satellites to halt the arms race upstairs.

Unpleasant Question

But even if the Soviet Union switched on inspection, this awfully unpleasant question remains: what good would a disarmament agreement be unless Red China was a party to it?

It's hard to believe the U.S. Senate would ever approve a disarmament agreement which did not include Red China. But Red China is not taking part in the 18-nation conference. And, to complicate matters, this country refuses to recognize the Communist Chinese as the lawful masters of China.

The Red Chinese, in turn, have said they would not be bound by any disarmament treaty unless they took part in it and, in addition, they said they would not take part unless the United States recognized them.

Disarming Fallacy

The fallacy in a disarmament agreement without Red China was explained by the late President John F. Kennedy at a news conference Feb. 14, 1962:

"There is no use having an inspection system agreed upon between . . . the United States and the Soviet Union and some other countries and then have another country, large, carrying on intensive armaments preparations. Quite obviously that would not protect our security."

"So this problem of bringing that in is a problem that must be considered before we would be able to have confidence in any disarmament agreement."

Red China is not even a member of the United Nations. The United States has managed so far to keep it out. But the American ally, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist China on Formosa, is a U.N. member.

Chiang claims to be boss of all China, although the Reds drove him off the mainland and have kept him off. So, in addition to all the problems just mentioned, there's this:

How, for the sake of universal disarmament, could the United States recognize Red China without abandoning Chiang or at least in effect agreeing that the Red Chinese and not Chiang were the boss of China?

For all these reasons the disarmament circle seems due to keep spinning quite a while.

Medics Study Smoking in Armed Forces

May Decide Next Week Regarding 'Line of Action'

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department's top medical officers may decide this week on a "line of action" concerning cigarette smoking among the 2.7 million men and women in the armed forces.

The Pentagon told The Associated Press that Dr. Shirley C. Fisk, its health director, will meet Wednesday with the surgeons general of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

They will talk over the Public Health Service report which linked cigarette smoking to some forms of cancer and other diseases.

Each of the chief military doctors is expected to outline recommendations he is making to his own service secretary and then to discuss with Fisk "what the Defense Department common policy and line of action should be," the Pentagon said.

"Whether any new policy directives will be issued remains to be determined," it added.

It was stressed that the meeting was not specially called, but was regularly scheduled.

"During the two years the Public Health Service report was in preparation the Defense Department policy was to wait and read it before acting," the department said. "We now have read it."

There has been no one policy on cigarette smoking for all the services. Each has set its own.

As long ago as September 1962, the Air Force surgeon general banned cigarettes from flight lunch boxes and refused to accept them for free distribution to patients in Air Force hospitals.

That policy still is in effect.

The Army and the Navy have imposed no restrictions, and there is no certainty that they will do so.

Appleton Group
To Attend EW
Plan Session

A delegation of Appleton city officials will be observers Friday at exploratory talks at Sheboygan for forming a 7-county Eastern Wisconsin Planning Commission.

Appleton and other Fox Cities communities belong to the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, which has been functioning for nearly a decade.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell, City Planner Walter Rasmussen and members of the Appleton Planning Commission will attend, along with Gene Franchette, executive director of the Fox Valley group.

"We intend to be observers at the meeting and will relate some of our experiences in getting a regional plan commission functioning," Mitchell said today.

Mayor Emil C. A. Muuss and the Sheboygan Common Council have invited mayors, city managers, clerks, plan directors and county board members from Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Door, Kewaunee, Brown, Calumet and Fond du Lac counties to attend.

Topping the list of speakers will be U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.). Representatives of state and federal government agencies also will be on the program.
